PROSPECTUS.

The importance of physical education has never been questioned, even where its claims were practically neglected. It is universally acknowledged that corporeal health and vigour are, if not indispensable conditions, at all events most effectual promoters of intellectual activity, and of moral and social excellence. The wholesomeness of the body is intimately connected with soundness of the mind and of the heart; and the bodily faculties, like all others, can be preserved in health only by a proper and regular course of training and discipline.

This opinion is confirmed and illustrated by the history of the most civilised and enlightened nations of ancient and modern times. Amongst the Greeks, manly exercises took precedence of all others in the education of a citizen. The public schools of Athens were her GYMNASIA: several of which were erected at the public expense, and in a style of the utmost magnificence. Amidst the courts and corridors, the stadia and gardens of these splendid institutions the young Athenian spent a large portion of his days, and here, often in the intervals of repose from violent exertion, listened to the lectures or submitted to the catechising of the professors of literature and philosophy.

In England the case is substantially the same. Physical education, although not equally systematised, receives amongst our people a cultivation as earnest and as successful as that accorded to it by the ancients. The celebrated saying of the Duke of Wellington, that "Waterloo was won in the playing fields of Eton," is echoed by every one who is practically acquainted with English boys and young men. No doubt, to the manly sports which make so important a feature of life in our public schools and in our country villages, Englishmen are indebted for that spirit of enterprise, calm self-reliance, and undaunted resolution which has extended our name and our Empire through every portion of the globe.

If this were all,—if physical training contributed only to form habits of perseverance and fearlessness in difficulty and danger, it would possess a strong claim upon our attention. But there is no part of our compound nature in the healthy development of which it is not an essential ingredient. The boy who mopes in the play-ground is mostly dull in the class-room, and instances are numerous of the highest honours won at the same time in the cricket field or on the river, and in the Examination-hall. A lazy untrained body may enshrine an acute—never a manly comprehension or cheerful mind. It is the spirit of the athlete which follows unwearied the labyrinth of an intricate argument, or amidst repeated failures and disappointments, tracks to their source the secrets of nature.

It is not less valuable MORALLY. The courtesy of a soldier is as unsullied as his honour, and the old proverb confirms the alliance of mercy with strength. The sense of power has a natural tendency to produce a spirit of forbearance, consideration, and tenderness. "Gentleness" is the inheritance of chivalry, and the noblest attribute of the hero. Those whose power and courage are unquestioned can well afford, as they are generally inclined, to surpass the weaker in courtesy and patience.

That Australians have not degenerated from the manly virtues of their forefathers, is abundantly proved by their achievements at cricket and in acquatic sports. But it is to be regretted that the materials for physical education are so scantily supplied to the rising generation of Sydney. There is scarcely a school in this city which possesses the most ordinary apparatus for gymnastic exercises; none, it is believed, where any methodical or regular instruction in such exercises can be obtained, or is even indirectly encouraged.

The want is not less felt by OLDER MEN. A large number of our citizens confined to sedentary occupations during the greater portion of the day, are in the utmost danger of losing their spirits and health. To them, one or two hours spent in the Gymnasium before or after the business of the day would make all the difference between a dull, listless, fretful evening, and a merry, lively, contented one; would increase the present comfort of themselves and their families, and in all probability prolong their lives.

To supply this want, then, is the Sydney Gymnasium to be erected. Here will be found apparatus for the school-boys and for the adults, suited to the various ages and constitutions of the pupils; the whole superintended by a competent master, who will be in attendance early in the morning, and after business hours in the evening, when the building will be lighted with gas. Classes will be formed, and rewards given to such as shall be found deserving of them. The apparatus to be erected under the superintendence of a medical gentleman of great experience in such matters, both at home and on the continent. It is intended to include all the improvements of the best kindred institutions elsewhere, the only possible limit to such advantages being the want of funds. The committee confidently hope that this want, at least, will not be allowed to exist, and earnestly desire that the public of Sydney will at once put an end to any doubt on the subject by contributing a sufficient amount to make this a grand national institution and a worthy model for the other colonies of the Southern Hemisphere.

By the Rules and Regulations now publishing, it will be seen that fencing and the various defensive exercises will also be taught, in no way interfering with the gymnastic exercises; and, as funds increase, it is proposed to add a tennis and racket court, the Government having kindly granted the use of a site, being the piece of ground situated between the Domain and St. Mary's Church, sufficiently large to admit this addition to the Gymnasium, as well as to allow of out-door exercises not properly belonging to the other branches of the institution.

Terms of admission are—Life members, £10 10s.; ordinary annual members, £1 1s.; an entrance fee of £1 1s. to be paid by members joining after the 1st July next.

Pupils to the Gymnasium will pay 5s per quarter, and for fencing, and other defensive exercises, £1 10s. per quarter, in addition to the annual subscription.

Schools of not less than ten pupils will pay 2s. per head per quarter to the Gymnasium.

Intending members will oblige by at once sending their names and addresses to any member of the Committee, when, on election, they will receive a ticket of admission and a copy of the Regulations; or to the Honorary Secretary, at the temporary office of the institution, Town Hall, King-street.

ROYAL MAIL STEAM-PACKET COMPANY.
Sydney, 1st April, 1859.—DEAR SIR,—Replying to your enquiry respecting your Bellambi coal, I have great pleasure in stating that we have given it a fair trial in several of the Royal Mail ships, and that the result has been highly satisfactory so far; so much so that I have considered myself justified in recommending the Directors of this Company, in the event of our contracting for the Panama line, to make no further shipments of Welsh coal for the outside service. We do not find your coal at present, even when thoroughly hand-picked, equal to coal from the BEST pits at Cardiff or Newport, as consumed fresh and fresh on our Atlantic lines, but I am decidedly of opinion that when care is taken to hand-pick, the Illawarra coal, either from your pits or Mr. Osborne's, they will be found little, if at all, inferior to coal shipped from home, four or five months on the passage, probably heated more or less, and then stored here for two or three months longer.

By the January mail-ship I forwarded samples from the principal collieries of New South Wales to our Company in London, for trial and analysis. I shall not fail to forward you a report as soon as I receive it.

Yours faithfully,
CHAMPION WETTON, superintendent.
Thomas Hale, Esq., &c. &c., &c., Bellambi.

Messrs. Croft and Son,
Dear Sirs,—Having had considerable experience in the use of the Bellambi coal, we are of opinion that, for steam purposes, forges, and for making coke, it is superior to any other coal in the colony.
Yours truly,
FRANCIS NAPIER and Co.
Vulcan Foundry, Sydney, April 4th.

Messrs. Thomas Croft and Son,
Dear Sirs,—Having used the Bellambi coals for the last eight months, I am decidedly of opinion that, the said coals are superior to any other in New South Wales for steam purposes as yet tried.
JOHN BOOTH.

TEA.—The most choice and superlative mixture of BLACK TEAS in Sydney.—HANKS and COMPANY fearlessly assert they are selling at the present time Teas of a character never surpassed in the colony of New South Wales. The peculiar blending of certain proportions of the finest of the present season's growth produces a beverage remarkable for its richness and fine delicate flavour; the price being moderate, viz., 2s. 6d. per lb., places it in the reach of all classes.
HANKS and COMPANY, proprietors.
Australian Tea Mart, opposite the Market.

HANKS and COMPANY'S superlative Australian Mixture, being a combination of the choicest kinds of BLACK and GREEN TEAS. The intrinsic excellence of this Tea is in the admixture. The knowledge of the quality that each variety possesses, with a judicious blending of the same, has enabled Hanks and Company to surmount a difficulty generally felt in Sydney to obtain this article in as high a state of perfection as in England; knowing that nothing can surpass this superior article, they with confidence recommend it to the public of Sydney. The price, only 2s. 6d. per lb., makes it available to all classes of consumers.
HANKS and COMPANY, proprietors.
Australian Tea Mart, opposite the Markets.

TO THE INHABITANTS of SYDNEY and NEW SOUTH WALES.—The difficulty of obtaining TEA of really fine quality has been long felt by every one who can appreciate the luxury. In catering for the public in this indispensable article of daily consumption, S. Bennett and Co. have found, during their experience as tea dealers in this city, that teas of medium fine quality are rarely imported,— the best, never! The reason assigned by merchants is that they cannot obtain remunerative prices for outlay of capital. Such being the facts, S. B. and Co. having determined to establish a name in this country for the sale of a superior quality of tea, at their own risk and cost, have made arrangements with the well-known tea merchants, Messrs. Brown and Co., Spring-street, for the exclusive importation of a regular supply of such tea as S. B. and Co. know (from long experience as tea dealers in the west of England and some of the first establishments in London) will suit the tastes of all consumers, but of connoisseurs particularly. And they now have the pleasure of announcing to their friends and the public generally that the first parcel of this tea has arrived per Atalanta, and is, without exception, the finest ever offered in this country. It requires no mixing, being of itself a combination of great strength, with fine pekoe souchong flavour. Large consumers will find this to be the most economical tea, one-half the quantity being sufficient to produce a better infusion than the tea generally sold. The truth of these assertions may be easily proved by a trial, which is respectfully solicited by

MURDER! MURDER!! MURDER!!!—Will the Inhabitants of Newtown persist in killing themselves by inches, cutting firewood, when they can obtain good dry Iron Bark and Box Billet Wood at HARDAKER and LAINSON'S, cut to any length at their saw mills and delivered (within three miles) for £1 per ton. Quick dispatch. Opposite the Congregational Church, Newtown.

CAUTION.—The failure of James Davies and Sons, the largest exporters of Boots and Shoes to the Australian colonies, has caused the most sudden reaction in the prices of Boots and Shoes ever known. The Proprietors of Commerce Hall, 788, George-street South, contemplating for some months the results which must have necessarily occurred from such reckless shipments, had laid in an immense stock, and are now offering them at the same rates as hitherto. Families, country storekeepers, and others are recommended to supply themselves at once. Copy the address—Commerce Hall, 788, George-street South, between the Haymarket and Railway Station, left hand side from the city.

MICHAEL GUILFOYLE, Nurseryman, Florist, and Seedsman, Ornamental and Landscape Gardener, Exotic Nursery, Double Bay, begs to remind parties desirous of procuring large or small quantities of PLANTS that he has the most extensive collection of all sorts of Ornamental Trees and Shrubs, and also of Flowering Plants, of every description, which was ever offered to the public to select from since gardening was known in the colony. An inspection of the Nursery is especially invited.
Prices strictly moderate, with the usual allowance to the trade. N.B. Flower and Vegetable Seeds of every description. Native Seeds, in great variety, always ready, in collections.

PERENNIAL GRASS SEED.—On SALE, a quantity of mixed Meadow permanent Grass Seed, of last season's growth, the same kind as is sown in the Illawarra District; which place supplies the most butter for Sydney consumption, as also for shipment to Melbourne, &c. Scattered about sheep runs it improves the pasture, the cattle carrying the seed in all directions. N.B. Price One Shilling per lb.; a liberal allowance made by taking twenty or thirty bushels. Sold by FERRIS and SON, 239, Pitt-street, Sydney.

A NEW and IMPORTANT DISCOVERY in the SCIENCE of MEDICINE.—Seal of Great Britain.—Diplome d'Ecole de Pharmacie, Paris.—Imperial College of Medicine, Vienna.—TRIESEMAR, Nos. 1, 2, and 3, a lozenge devoid of taste or smell, can be carried in the waistcoat pocket, as administered by Lallemand, Roux, and Ricord, adapted for both sexes.—Triesemar, No. 1, for relaxation, spermatorrhœa, indiscriminate excesses, or too long residence in hot climates. It has restored thousands of debilitated individuals, who are now enjoying health and vigour. Triesemar, No. 2, effectually, in the short space of three days, eradicates all traces of gonorrhœa, strictures, irritation of the bladder, non-retention of urine, and those disorders which copaivi and cubebs have so long been thought an antidote for. Triesemar, No. 3, is the great continental remedy for syphilis and secondary symptoms, scurvy, scrofula, and all cutaneous eruptions.
The CORDIAL BALM OF SYRIACUM is expressly employed in both sexes to renovate the impaired powers of life. Its action is purely balsamic; its powers in re-invigorating the frame in all cases of debility arising from excesses has been demonstrated by its unvarying success in thousands of cases.
The CONCENTRATED DETERSIVE ESSENCE, a remedy for purifying the system from venereal contamination, and is recommended for any of the varied forms of secondary symptoms. Its action is purely detersive, and its beneficial influence on the system is undeniable.
PERRY'S PURIFYING SPECIFIC PILLS constitute an effectual remedy for either sex in all cases of gonorrhœa, stricture, and diseases of the urinary organs.

ESSENCE OF GINGER and CHAMOMILE FLOWERS, for indigestion, flatulence, heartburn, and nervous affections.—The peculiar aromatic properties of the Jamaica ginger, in combination with the bitter and essential principles of the chamomile, unquestionably afford the most efficacious remedy that can be employed for the cure of the above distressing complaints. Being combined with an alkali, this essence has the power of neutralising the acidity in the stomach, and thus of removing the cause of flatulence, spasm, and heartburn. Prepared by GEORGE HEATH, family and dispensing chemist, 334 (late 187), George-street, between the Post Office and Hunter-street, Sydney, from Savory and Moore's, chemists to the Queen, London.

It is, moreover, the best food for INFANTS and INVALIDS generally, as it never turns acid on the weakest stomach, nor interferes with a good liberal diet, but imparts a healthy relish for lunch and dinner, and restores the faculty of digestion, and nervous and muscular energy to the most enfeebled.

J. D.K.Z. ANCHOR BRAND OF HOLLAND GENEVA, shipped by J. DE KUYPER and SON, of Rotterdam.—We observe that several of the regular importers for the Australian markets have of late complained of the full contents and full strength of our shipments of geneva, so well known under our brand of J.D.K.Z Anchor, stating that parcels of other brands in their neighbours' hands had contained less contents and weaker geneva, thereby lessening the amount of duty charged on the cases.
We think it right for the interests of merchants and consumers to publicly inform the Australian purchasers of our brand, that we have never shipped less than 3-28 to 30-32 gallons in a red case, and 1-28 to 30-32 gallons in a green case, and that we shall continue rigidly to adhere to this, our established rule, deeming it of the utmost importance to have a known standard of quantity, but we shall always be careful not to exceed four gallons and two gallons, so that extra duty may not be incurred.
The strength also will be Dutch proof, that is, 14 to 15 per cent. under Sykes' proof, and any shipments bearing our brand, containing a less quantity or a lower strength, will be imitations, and not of our shipping, as our friends may rely upon our continuing to refuse, as heretofore, all orders for lower quality, contents, or strength.
We never make consignments, but confine ourselves to executing orders for our geneva; and we solicit a continuance of the same, through the English correspondents of import houses, who can obtain any information of Messrs. MATTHEW CLARK and SONS, 72, Great Tower-street London, our agents in England.
JOHN D. KUYPER and ZOON.
Rotterdam, 10th January, 1859.

The undersigned have been requested to draw attention to the foregoing, and will be happy to give any information respecting it.

ESSENTIALLY NECESSARY that you should be provided with one of SAMUEL DAVIS'S superior Watches, the quality of which supersedes all others. To bushmen and seafaring men these watches are indispensable, being correct time keepers, and very durable. Hard riding cannot injure them, and being made of a peculiar alloyed metal, prevent sea or any other rust affecting them.
The known celebrity of this establishment for the sale of first-class articles only, which is of many years' duration, will in itself be sufficient guarantee for the public that they will get the articles as represented, and the very extensive and unrivalled stock kept at this establishment—by far the largest in the colony—precludes the possibility of competition from any other house, either in quality or price.
A written warranty given with each watch to perform correctly for two years, without any additional expense.

ONE THOUSAND GOLD WATCHES

always on show, and three thousand in silver cases.
Jewellery, manufactured from fine gold, consisting of
Elaborately-worked fine gold armlets and necklets, with and without pendants, set with valuable stones.
The designs of the brooches are so beautiful and rare that they require seeing to be appreciated, in neckties, lovers' knots, &c.
Hair bracelets, gold mounted, very pretty indeed, from 12s. 6d.
Miniature brooches, handsomely mounted in solid gold, from 21s.
Lockets for miniatures and hair, very pretty patterns, from 7s. 6d.
A beautiful selection of ladies' and gentlemen's rings, set with brilliant diamonds and other precious stones.

Gents' fine gold shirt studs, in endless variety.
Silver knife, fork and spoon, in morocco cases, from 21s.
Silver cups and mugs, elegantly chased; with an unequalled assortment of every description of fine gold jewellery, manufactured from the pure metal.
A very large stock of ELECTRO-PLATED WARE, in tea and coffee services, salvers, cake baskets, cruets, liquor-frames, toast-racks, kettles, candlesticks, branches, spoons, and forks, pickle-frames.
Also, a large assortment of sterling English Silver Plate, being London Goldsmiths' Hall marked, in spoons and forks, mustard-pots, toast-racks, &c., &c.
In fact the Proprietor of this Establishment, in seeking for an extension of public patronage, feels it necessary to remark that in addition to the valuable and well selected stock hitherto kept by him, he has received direct from Clerkenwell manufacturers several thousand pounds worth more goods, which added to his already large stock, will enable him to supply his customers, and to carry on his extended trade on the same principles as pursued by the most influential and respectable jewellers in London, Ireland, and Scotland.
All watches timed, regulated, and adjusted before leaving the establishment with the patent adjusting rod.
Any article not approved of will be exchanged if within three days of purchase.
Colonial jewellery made to order in any design or pattern, and Mr. Davis ventures to say, without fear of contradiction, that in the mechanical department he can exhibit specimens of work unusually seen in this colony.
The watch department is conducted personally by Mr. Davis, whose very many years' experience in that particular branch enables him, as a practical man, to use his humble efforts to give satisfaction to his customers.

The Koophandle has made a good passage from Manila of 58 days. No vessels were loading for the colonies when she sailed.

The Mechanic was compelled to put back, having lost her spars and sails during a heavy westerly breeze, 150 miles east of the Heads. On Wednesday last she sighted a large portion of wreck over which the sea was breaking—probably part of the hull of the Defender.

Extracts from the Melbourne papers:

Foundering of the Ship Lochiel.—From Captain Davidson, of the barque Omagh, we (Register) have been furnished with the following particulars of the above catastrophe. It appears that the Lochiel was a large vessel, bound to Liverpool from Manila, at which port she had taken in a cargo of sugar. Proceeding on her voyage she had reached as far as the Straits of Sunda, when, unfortunately, she struck a sunken rock, and at once sunk into deep water, but not before the crew had taken to the boats in order to reach the nearest port. The Omagh passed them in the Straits, but they required no assistance.

The A. S. N. Co.'s s.s. Boomerang left Wellington, N. Z., on Tuesday, March 29th, at 2 p.m., during a heavy gale from the N.W. She experienced a continuation of heavy gales from W.N.W. to W.S.W., with violent squalls, accompanied with thunder and lightning and a very heavy sea, for seven days after leaving, and strong head winds during the rest of the passage. On the second day after leaving was struck by a heavy sea, which took away main bulwark and swept the deck. On Sunday, at 7·10 a.m., entered the Heads, and arrived alongside of the Railway Pier, at 11 a.m.

The schooner Waterlily, Tulloch, on her passage from Melbourne to Circular Head, called at King's Island, and brought off the party who have been employed on the telegraph line, calling also at the Three Hummocks, to fix the wire, which they completed. The posts are all erected across Circular Head, and ready for the wires, which will doubtless be put up in a few days.

Patent Slip for Table Bay.—It will be recollected that we announced some few months since that Messrs. De Pass, Spence, and Co., and Mr. Granger, had undertaken to lay down a patent slip in Table Bay. A large portion of the slip is now on board the Nipsiquit, and on its way to the Cape. The slip will be sufficient to take a ship from 1800 to 2000 tons, and will be laid down between the Amsterdam and Chavonne Batteries. There will be steam power to work the vessel up, and everything complete. It is expected that the whole will be laid down and in working order before the next winter. This will be a work of greater public importance than anything yet undertaken in Table Bay, and we wish the proprietors a full measure of success.—Cape Argus.

The New South Wales Land League.—The usual weekly meeting of this body was held last evening, at the rooms of the association, Francis-street, Woolloomooloo, by adjournment from Monday last. Mr. J. Black, president of the League, occupied the chair, and rather more than the ordinary number of members were in attendance. The secretary announced the receipt from the Land Convention of Victoria of a number of copies of the newspaper published by that association, and a vote of thanks was passed to that body for their polite attention in this matter. A motion by Mr. Douglass, for the appointment of a deputation to wait upon the committees of the Reform League and the Protection League, requesting their co-operation with the Land League at the next election, in order to secure the return of candidates whose views might be in accordance with the principles of that body, was agreed to; and Messrs. Black, Reid, Wiley, and Douglass were appointed for the purpose. The president, as chairman of the sub-committee appointed at last meeting, and consisting, with the president, of Messrs. Reid and M'Phail, brought up the report of that committee, in which the views of that League were fully detailed. The whole subject was very elaborately treated, and an interesting discussion ensued upon the various points included therein. The report was subsequently adopted, with some emendations, and the meeting broke up.

Registration.—The undermentioned gentlemen have been appointed to give consent to the marriage of minors within the districts mentioned in connection with their names:—Port Macquarie, James Henry Crummer, Esq., J.P.; Deniliquin, Thomas Coutts Morrison, Esq., J.P.; and John Phillips, Esq., J.P.

SATURDAY, APRIL 16, 1859.

To come to any reasonable determination of the Land Question, it is necessary to divide our legislation into two parts:—one providing for the establishment of agricultural settlements, and the other for the management of the Waste Lands until they pass out of the custody of the Crown. Much embarrassment and contention has arisen from confounding these two subjects.

Men without the slightest experience in the country—totally ignorant of its geography, have had but one cry—"Down with the squatters!" But the squatting interest is at present the life and strength of this colony. It is the very basis of our revenue as well as the main support of our internal trade. To destroy it with violence would entail universal distress. Among Hogarth's pictures is one representing a contested election. A zealous partizan is seen cutting down a sign, which in that day indicated a Government establishment, and which was usually decorated by a crown. The reformer is sawing away with tremendous vehemence, but he rests upon the end of the beam next to empty air. Every stroke of his arm is only hastening his own fall—an image of many of our most active land maniacs.

No doubt the squatting interest became a popular bugbear, and it seems fine sport to catch a variety of the squatting class, with moustache, horsewhip, cutty pipe, blazing waistcoat, and prodigious boots. In default of something better to denounce as a robber-general, this image of supposed plenty and ease answered as a makeshift.

But there is another aspect of the Squatter. He had before him a desert where there was nothing but the worthless animals with which nature furnished Australia, and where there were no human beings but wandering savages—sometimes preying upon his substance or endangering his life. With a small flock he entered the interior—endured for years the trial of continual watching—subsisted upon damper, tea, and often salt provision;—struggled against loans bearing enormous interest, occasionally encountering reverses by which all his gains were swept away. The sheep became infected with the scab or foot-rot. The cattle became wild, and strayed beyond his reach. The price of wool fell sometimes below the cost of shearing and transit. General commercial embarrassment caused a pressure of his creditors. Often he had to begin again with a slender stock, and to make his way through new difficulties, once more to sight independence, and once more to lose it.

Such has been the history of hundreds of squatters. Among them are a few who, from great good fortune taken at the flood, have made large sums of money and quitted the country. A succession of high prices has elevated the condition perhaps of the greater part. There have been no long droughts for several years, and thus the tremendous losses which the colony has sometimes witnessed have not been recently repeated. But taken altogether the squatter has not only merited any prosperity he has enjoyed, he has been the means of returning back to the towns ten times more than they have ever done for him. Any attempt, therefore, to extinguish the squatting interest is mere insanity. It could not be entertained for a moment by men of any standing or intelligence, and the only fear we have arises from the domination of that blind envy which influences so large a portion of the human race. No doubt the squatters' occupation must be considered as temporary. It is right that he should give place when necessary for the permanent settlement of the country. But then that necessity only presses in a limited degree and within a narrow sphere. It does not, and cannot affect for many ages to come, the great proportion of the land of Australia. Reckoning the increase of the people upon the most favourable scale of calculation, still, the surface to be occupied is so inexpressibly vast that the land must, for the most part, be devoted to pastoral purposes. This would be inevitable even were not the greater portion of the land unfit for any other use. As time advances, and population spreads, no doubt the pastoral land will become adapted for settlement. But these are considerations for the year 2000.

What we now require is to remove all difficulties which stand in the way of the settlement of the country—to provide for this as though no other interest existed, because it is unquestionably better to indemnify for the sacrifice of vested rights, should they be found to stop colonisation, than to permit them to operate adversely. For the purpose of settlement, we may consider the whole country a carte blanche, and if, throughout the length and breadth, there be any obstacle to colonisation, there can be no doubt what should be the policy of the Government. It is, however, for those who require vested interests to be absorbed to prove their case—to show that their sacrifice is necessary to the public good; that the same good cannot be accomplished by other means.

The primary measure of the Legislature should then be to remove all obstacles to the settlement of land. But the thing is to ascertain what those obstacles are, and in what direction they lie.

If we turn to South Australia, we find a system that has been practised from the formation of the colony. Not a single voice has ever been raised against it. It has been as popular with the working classes as with any other, or perhaps rather more so. And what is the system? It is auction with an upset price of £1 per acre. It is a division of the country into 80-acre sections, in such constant supply as keeps within a few shillings the upset price and the real price. Any man, who has £20 in his pocket, may become possessed of an 80-acre section, because, with £20, he may borrow sufficient to pay the rest.

Such has been the plan of South Australia. The land has been sold in small parcels, but considerable quantities have been sold together. All the surrounding land for a distance has been opened for the common use of the purchasers, who have thus been able, under regulations enacted by themselves, to enjoy the benefit of pasturage until by an increase of sales the land shall be fairly alienated. It must be remembered that as the common pasturage is so alienated the land originally bought rises in value, and thus the principle of compensation comes in. The man who goes into a neighbourhood upon an eighty-acre section, if prosperous, becomes the purchaser of the adjoining section, and so on until he farms two or three hundred acres, becomes the employer of labour and a conservative!

Such is the system of South Australia—we repeat, a system tried for many years, and against which not a single voice is raised. The people of that colony—most of whom have arrived from England, — have not had the light and experience of our land reformers, but they manage to export as much corn as they consume, and if they are not so wealthy individually as many in the older colonies, abundance and comfort are more generally diffused.

A surveyor who goes out to measure a country usually fixes upon certain points from which to make his observations. Perhaps a politician, instead of running round a circle of empty words, might do well to follow the practice of the surveyor—to establish a few points of observation, and by this means avoid that random talk which ends in nothing but confusion. Our land reformers cannot do better than take Adelaide and its practice as the starting point of their inquiries and reforms. There is a country originally and essentially democratic—one in which the squatters as a class have never possessed any great influence—one which contains a more numerous body of farmers than any other country in this hemisphere, and the plan they have adopted is to sell land after it has been surveyed—to constitute agricultural neighbourhoods—to sell no land except by auction, and to make the upset price £1 per acre. That has been their experience, and it is worth a thousand theories. What have our reformers to oppose to it?

Lord Elgin is certainly not one of those men who content themselves with doing the very minimum of duty. He is evidently taking a very comprehensive view of his functions as the British Envoy Extraordinary in the East, and is bent upon fully accomplishing before he returns to England something that shall have been worth while travelling so far for. The immediate object of his mission was to negotiate a conclusion to the Chinese war; this he has done, but he has also seized the opportunity to open up Japan to British commerce. And still further to complete his work, he has availed himself of his advantages to test the new treaty with China, and confirm it in one important particular by ascending the great river Yang-tse-kiang as far as the City of Hankow. As a viceroy in Canada, presiding over the introduction of Responsible Government, and imitating, on a small scale, the functions of a constitutional monarch who reigns but does not govern, he had acquired a reputation for filling that post with the dignified neutrality which becomes it. In the East, he has shown himself as competent to act with vigour and promptitude as with suavity and dignity. Lord Palmerston must have the credit of being as judicious in selecting the right man to meet the diplomatic emergency in China, as he was in choosing the right man to meet the military difficulty in India. Lord Elgin, however, had wore some diplomatic laurels even in Canada, where he was largely instrumental in negotiating the reciprocity treaty with the United States, and his success there may possibly have recommended him for employment in China.

The permission to navigate the Yang-tse-kiang was one of the most valuable concessions made by the late treaty. Hitherto foreign merchants had been kept exclusively at a few ports on the coast, and, as in the case of Canton, had been jealously warded off as much as possible even there. It was difficult, if not impossible, for the importer of foreign goods to get into direct communication with the great bulk of the consumers. This barrier to the free intercourse of trade has been removed by the opening of the navigation of the river. The Yang-tse-kiang is the great artery of traffic in China, running the whole breadth of the empire from west to east. By means of canals and affluents an immense proportion of the commerce of the interior drains into it and finds an outlet at its mouth.

When the consent of the Chinese authorities was given to the navigation of the river by foreigners, it was stipulated that the privilege could not be practically guaranteed at once, as the rebels were in possession of several posts that commanded the stream. Evasion is so characteristic of Chinese diplomacy that it was natural to suspect that the rebel forces were referred to as a convenient excuse for not fulfilling promptly the stipulations of the treaty; and as no official assurances could be relied upon on this point, the most satisfactory way of putting all doubt at an end was to ascend the river, in sufficient force to meet any hostilities that might be offered. It was rather a hazardous undertaking to attempt taking an English frigate and two war-steamers up a river unsurveyed, but known to abound in shoals, and to run the risk of getting hard and fast in the midst of a population certainly not friendly and possibly very hostile. In Captain Osborne, however, Lord Elgin appears to have found a naval commander ready for any enterprise, and possessed of the skill and courage that ensure success.

That the rebels command the river at several posts, so as to impede the free navigation, was found to be a fact. The Imperialists, though possessing fleets of junks on the river, are unable to communicate freely between their several posts. Nankin is in the hands of the rebels, and the whole south bank of the river from that point to Ganking, a distance of one hundred and fifty miles. They also hold on the north bank the ground opposite Nankin, as well as a rocky headland, where the river narrows at a point some miles further up.

At Nankin the first opposition was offered to the little fleet. The fire, of course, was soon repaid with interest, and the batteries fronting the river were silenced. The Imperialist land army had been for a long time besieging the city, but the soldiers wanted the energy to take advantage of the bombardment to make a dash at the place, and so the fleet passed on, leaving the besiegers and besieged to fight it out at their leisure. The prestige obtained for the British commander, so different from anything to which these inland warriors had ever been treated before, saved the necessity of a very frequent repetition of it. The report of their doings preceded the travellers, and earned for them a courteous reception until they reached Ganking, the highest point in the occupation of the rebels. Here, again, it was necessary to make another display of power, and here again the imbecile Imperialist army which was besieging the place, was not sufficiently wide awake to take advantage of the assault. It was only at the two extreme posts held by the rebels, therefore, along the banks, that opposition was offered.

It took the expedition twenty-seven days to reach the city of Hankow, which is at present the limit of the navigation, the ships having had to sound and fight their way. The largest vessel, the Retribution, it was found impossible to get all the way up, and she was left behind at an Imperialist post between Nankin and Ganking. The rebels had been at Hankow and its neighbourhood, utterly devastating the place, but they had been cleared out, and a new city had arisen on the ashes of the old one. At this point, which is a great junction of water traffic, there are not less than a million inhabitants, and it promises to become a great entrepot for foreign trade, whenever the river is clear for steamers. The people are eager for trade.

On descending the river the waters were found to have fallen so much that only the two little gunboats could get along without grounding, and the Cruiser and the Furious were left behind. The expedition being thus reduced from four vessels to two, and those two the smallest and least effective of the lot, it became a question whether the rebels at Ganking would not take advantage of it to revenge themselves for the demolition of their forts by the whole squadron on its upward voyage. In this dilemma, a cool assurance was made to do the work of force. Instead of tempting the fire of the forts, by appearing to sneak past them, a peremptory message was sent on shore, demanding instant apology for the insult offered on the way up, under the threat of handing over the city and all the other posts on the river, to the Imperialist forces! The apology was tendered in the humblest manner, and the boats passed on, both parties more than contented to lose sight of each other—the rebels glad that they had escaped a repetition of the bombardment they had previously encountered; and the British, that they had avoided being forced into an encounter for which they were ill-prepared. The Retribution was picked up at the place where she was left, and reinforced by her heavy guns, a similar demand was made, and with more show of reason, at Nankin, and with similar results. Assurances were also given that communication with the two vessels left up the river should not be interrupted.

Lord Elgin's trip has, doubtless, had the effect of making a good impression on the minds of the inhabitants, both rebel and imperialist, and has convinced them that the British are not to be trifled with. The knowledge gained of the navigation is also of great value. The uninterrupted detention, too, of the Cruiser and the Furious at a point above the present limits of the rebel occupation, together with the communication that will be kept up with them till the river rises enough for them to be brought down, will also have a wholesome effect, and tend to keep up the memory of the impression that has been made. But the river will not be safe for general commerce till the rebels are finally conquered. They are already in straits, and if there were the slightest energy at headquarters, they would soon be reduced. The accounts given of the desolation they everywhere leave behind them shews that they must be a great curse to the country, and gives a different impression, both of their patriotism and their morality, from what was once entertained. At present, there can be no doubt but that they offer the only remaining obstruction to free commercial intercourse with the interior.

The celebrated lawsuit known as the Divine Case has been finally brought to a close. The plaintiff proposed to withdraw further proceedings upon the defendants' undertaking to discharge their own costs, and to pay about £2000, he undertaking, upon those terms, to surrender all right and title to any interest he might have in the estate. Thus one of the most memorable causes ever brought before any Court of Justice, —whether we consider the magnitude of the stake, or the variety of the interests and questions involved in the enquiry, the number of the witnesses, the length of the trials, or the time over which they have spread,—has been compromised, rather than settled by law. The property in Newtown will, by the termination of this suit, be rendered doubly valuable.

Mudgee Mechanics' Institute.—The second annual meeting of the members of this institute took place on the evening of Tuesday last, the attendance being very numerous. Mr G. H. Cox, president of the Society, occupied the chair. The treasurer's accounts were read by the chairman, and showed that the total receipts during the past year amounted to £102 12s. 5d. and the expenditure to £74 12s. 1d., leaving a balance in the bank of £28 4d., besides the sum of £15 towards the building fund. The library now contains 500 volumes. This large increase has been owing chifly to the kind consideration of the members of the Mudgee Library, who, considering that an amalgamation of the libraries would be a public benefit, gratuitously handed their valuable collection over to the institute. The chairman reminded the meeting that, about a year ago, £500 had been voted by the Assembly towards the erection of a new building for the institution on condition that an equal amount be raised by the inhabitants. He thought the present time very suitable for commencing an agitation for this object. It was accordingly resolved to make an united and persevering effort to carry this object into effect.

The Late Mr. Robert Campbell.—The numerous friends of this highly respected gentleman will learn with feelings of melancholy satisfaction that an admirable life-size portrait of him, painted in crayons, is now on view at Mr. Dalton's Photographic and Crayon Portrait Gallery, No. 400, George-street. This portrait was taken by Mr. Dalton from the life, about four years ago, and depicts his manly and noble features before they had been ravaged by the mental anxiety and induced illness to which he ultimately fell a universally lamented victim. We understand Mr. Dalton intends to publish photographic copies of this fine portrait on paper at a low charge.

City Sewerage.—Yesterday evening, the committee protesting against the City Sewerage Rates met, pursuant to advertisement, at Mr. Smith's, Glasgow Arms, George-street, for the purpose of submitting the subscription lists to the treasurer, and paying over to that officer the amounts contributed. Only four or five members of the committee were present. The chair was taken by Mr. George Hamilton, of Hunter-street, in the absence of Mr. John Smith, solicitor. The following gentlemen handed in their lists and paid over sums contributed: Mr. Elisha Hayes, £9 14s. 6d.; Mr. Thomas Jennings, £4 4s.; Mr. John Smith (the secretary), £3 10s.; and Mr. George Hamilton, £23 5s. 6d.—making a total of £40 14s. Several lists, however, it was stated, were yet to come in. The probable expenses and accounts furnished were carefully gone through, and most of them allowed. After this revision the expenses incurred were found to exceed the subscriptions actually received, by some forty pounds. The committee, after hearing Mr. Hamilton, were assured that this amount would be realised by the outstanding lists, and the contributions of some friends who had not, as yet, taken any prominent part in the matter. At the termination of the proceedings Mr. George Hamilton stated that, should the bank subscription-lists fail—which he feared they would, as those to whom he had applied pleaded excess of business—he thought he should be able, from amongst his friends, to make up any deficiency which might occur; and the more so as Mr. John Smith, the solicitor, had intimated to him, that he would not consent to receive any portion of the charges involved on professional account. It was mentioned at the meeting that the Gas Company had declined making any charge for the gas supplied for the public meeting at the Lyceum Theatre; and, after payment of sundry accounts, the committee adjourned for the purpose of meeting for final arrangements, and the publication of subscriptions and disbursements, to a day which the chairman said he would name as soon as he received outstanding lists.

Rylstone.—A nugget of gold, weighing 1¾ oz., has been discovered in the very centre of the township, under the following unusual circumstances. On Saturday last a woman named Wady was walking from the river towards Walton's public-house, when she inadvertently struck a gravel boulder with her foot; upon its falling to pieces this beautiful and large piece of gold fell out—it is quite smooth and pure. It is probable it was lodged there after the last great flood, for it was near-high-water mark where it was found. Surely, there is more gold where this came from, and we may yet hope bright things for Rylstone.—Mudgee Newspaper.

The Penrith Nepean Bridge.—A correspondent writes:—Amid all the detraction and obloquy with which the directors have been assailed in the successful prosecution of a work of such magnitude, I have pleasure in stating that the reconstruction of this structure is on the eve of completion. The engineer-in-chief confidently hopes that by the first day of May next it will be thrown open for public traffic, and certainly not sooner than it was wanted, for the transit by the punts plying on the river during the period the bridge has been undergoing repairs have been a source of universal complaint by the public; passengers were delayed and impeded in their progress; clergymen frequently detained from their high and holy duties in attendance on the sick and afflicted; and teams with merchandise often ruinously stopped, for a length of time, to gratify the caprice of a drunken ferryman. The bridge, in the opinion of those who are versed in such matters, is pronounced to be a very strong and substantial piece of work, composed of the best materials, and does much credit to the contractors, the Messrs. Lockhart of Sydney. In carrying out the plans of the engineer, it has been discovered that the whole of the bed of the river, within a few feet of the surface, is of solid rock. The diving bell has been used effectually night and day in clearing away the silt, which had to be removed before they could reach the rock, into which a foundation has been excavated for the piers, and driving the piles at great toil and incessant labour. This has been accomplished in a very satisfactory manner. Before the bridge is finished, it will cost the proprietary above £10,000. It is much to be regretted that the majority of the shareholders have abandoned the undertaking, inasmuch as they have refused to contribute a single farthing towards the new structure, pronouncing it perfectly impracticable; it has therefore been left to the liberality, energy, and perseverence of a very few of their body, to carry out this great undertaking, so much required for the public convenience.

Cricket Match.—Second Day.—On Tuesday morning the two elevens re-assembled on the ground, to take their second and decisive innings. The weather was still fine, though scarcely so favourable as on Monday. This, however, did not prevent the arrival of a considerable number of spectators interested in the result of the game. The Maitland players commenced their second innings at about twelve o'clock, J. Moore and G. Brackenreg taking their bats, and Gilbert and Rutter bowling. Dee having been given out by the Maitland umpire, a dispute arose upon the point, which brought the game to an abrupt termination, the Maitland players declining to send in another man. The score stood as follows, when the play was thus suddenly stopped:—

J. Moore, b. by Gilbert	8
G. Brackenreg, b. by Rutter	4
J. Tyter, c. by Monks, b. by Gilbert	1
G. Moore, not out	4
T. Dee, run out	2
	19

Notwithstanding the untoward termination of the match, good fellowship and right feeling between our visitors and the cricketers of Maitland were not disturbed. In the evening seven or eight of the Cumberland players partook of the dinner provided, at the Australian Arms. About thirty gentlemen sat down to the repast, which was of excellent quality, and admirably served—Mr. J. Brackenreg being caterer. The party broke up at a quarter to eleven—the greatest amity having prevailed.—Maitland Mercury.

Consul.—Mr. George Tully has been appointed to act as Consular Agent for France, at Newcastle.

Customs Revenue, Launceston.—The value of our imports during the month of March, amount to £50,644. Exports to only £16,307, a great contrast between that and the amount for February, which was £60,700. The amount of duties collected during the same period, was £6190 5s. 1l.,—viz., on spirits, wines, &c., £3314 2s. 6d.; on tobacco, snuff, &c., £1558 2s. 6d.; and on other goods, £1318 0s. 11d.—Cornwall Chronicle.

A CENTURY BEHINDHAND.

We live on the banks of the most noble river in all Australia—a stream which at a distance of two thousand miles from its debouchure is as broad as the Thames at Richmond. We have lived here, some of us, upwards of ten years, plodding along in our accustomed jog-trot way; anon complaining of the dulness of the times, anon regretting that our lot was not cast in some more progressive place. Yet we have never made the slightest attempt to turn to account the vast natural advantages of our situation. When we look at the magnificent river rolling past our doors, we feel inclined to exclaim with Wordsworth, whilst leaning over the parapet of Westminster bridge in the stillness of night:

"Ne'er saw I, never felt, a calm so deep!
The river gliding at its own sweet will.
Dear God! the very houses seem asleep;
And all that mighty heart is lying still."

If the Murray passed through any portion of America, its bosom within ten years after discovery would bear up large fleets of steamers; giant manufactories would arise upon its banks, and the adjacent soil would be laid under contribution for supplying the markets of the world with all commodities producible at a profit. Our river has often been compared to the Rhine, and its leading features greatly resemble those of its German prototype. Now the Rhine is made to furnish motive power to hundreds of flour mills, and we may safely say that one or more of these mills could be constructed at Albury, at an outlay of a few hundred pounds, which would grind wheat at sixpence per bushel, and yet yield a larger profit to the miller than can be realised out of the present price of grinding wheat by steam—two shillings per bushel. Wool is grown in our midst, but it has never entered into the heart of an Albury man to conceive that a factory for making colonial tweed would pay better on the spot than in Sydney, where the cost of the raw material is supplemented by the expense of cartage. Captain Cadell has shown us that stores can be brought up the Murray at £8 per ton, but because the first shipment happened to be of inferior quality, we have gone back to the bullock-teams and to the rates of £16 or £20 per ton. It would have been easy to start a steamboat company, or at any rate to provide one vessel for the use of our townspeople; it would have been easy for our storekeepers to make proper arrangements for purchasing goods in Adelaide—but no! it was still easier to make the public pay an increased price for all articles of consumption. A shipwright came to settle amongst us about a year ago, and built a pretty little craft as a specimen of his skill. A slight encouragement would have retained him in the town, and in course of time Albury might have become an Australian Pittsburg, celebrated for the building of river boats. But this man was allowed to go away desponding to some other locality, and we lost the benefit of his skill and experience. The people of Albury have no originality, and but little enterprise. If any person has managed to save a little money, he invests it in a public-house, and this kind of speculation is so very prevalent, that the thing is becoming quite a nuisance. It cannot be that public-houses are built because they yield larger returns than any other investment, for it is notorious that this kind of property barely pays interest on the outlay. Yet whilst hotels continue to increase, but few people bethink themselves of manufacturing wines, spirits, or beers for the supply of these establishments; notwithstanding the fact that this latter speculation would be far more profitable than the former. In most countries the novelty of a thing is its recommendation, and the surest way of making a fortune in England or America is by introducing some startling novelty. But we stick to old abuses for no other reason than that others have done so before us.—Border Post.

We understand that it is the intention of Sir John Pakington, in distributing to distinguished naval officers the few rewards of meritorious conduct which are at the disposal of the First Lord of the Admiralty, to divide them as equally and fairly as possible among the most deserving officers, and therefore not hereafter to give good service pensions to the superintendents of dock or victualling yards, or officers holding other profitable appointments, during the time of holding such positions.—United Service Gazette.

SUPREME COURT.—FRIDAY.

SITTINGS IN BANCO.

BEFORE the Chief Justice and Mr. Justice Dickinson.

HOWARD V. MOORE.

This was an appeal from a decision by Mr. Justice Milford, in Chambers, sustaining a conviction before the Sydney Police Bench, under the Municipal By-laws for the regulation of omnibuses and hackney carriages. By the eighth section of these by-laws, it was provided that every licensed conductor should be compellable to wear an uniform and a badge. Section 12 made the proprietor responsible for the good conduct of the conductor and for all penalties which such conductor might incur. Section 62 imposed penalties of from ten pounds to ten shillings for breaches of these by-laws. The present appellant, an omnibus proprietor, had been proceeded against for the default of a conductor in his employment, who had committed a breach of section 8. Application to stay the proceedings under this conviction had been made to Mr. Justice Milford, in Chambers, but he had sustained the conviction. Hence the present appeal. The objection relied upon was, that it was not open to the Municipal authorities to proceed against the proprietor for any default of this nature on the part of the conductor in the first instance, but only in the event of the penalty not being recoverable from the conductor.

Mr. Butler appeared in support of the appeal, and Mr. Dalley in support of the conviction.

The Court sustained the appeal. The offence was that of the conductor, not of the proprietor, and the former must be proceeded against. Until this had been done, and he had made default, the responsibility of the proprietor did not apply.

EX PARTE BLOTT V. STUBBS AND ANOTHER.

This was an application for a prohibition to stay proceedings under a conviction before the Sydney Bench. The present applicant had been convicted, as an omnibus conductor, under section 34 of the Corporation By-law for the regulation of omnibuses and hackney carriages, which prohibited all drivers and conductors from "shouting" on Sundays. The information charged Blott, as being "a licensed conductor of a licensed omnibus," with having shouted on a Sunday. The evidence was that he was "a licensed omnibus conductor," and that, being at the time with Invincible No. 5, he had called out "Newtown" on a Sunday. There were three objections taken—first, that the information should set out the words used, or describe the kind of noise made, leaving the Court to say whether this amounted to "shouting," within the meaning of the by-laws; secondly, that the conductor ought to have been shewn to have been licensed under the by-laws; thirdly, that the existence of the license could only, under section 59, be proved by producing a copy of such license.

Mr. Butler appeared in support of the application, and Mr. Dalley in support of the conviction.

Their Honors directed the prohibition to go. The information was properly drawn, and was properly sustained, except as to one point. Under the by-laws it was essential that the shouting should be on a licensed omnibus, and of this there was no evidence. The evidence amounted, at best, only to proof that Blott was a licensed omnibus conductor; but their Honors were inclined to think that the mode of proving the license, either of the vehicle or its conductor, should be that prescribed by section 59.

THE QUEEN V. DROUIT.

This was a special case from the Goulburn Quarter Sessions. The prisoner had been indicted for horse-stealing, and had been acquitted of the felony, but under the Act for the better prevention of cattle-stealing, &c., 17th Victoria, No. 3, had been convicted of the misdemeanour of having the animal unlawfully in his possession, and had been sentenced to nine months' imprisonment with hard labour. But upon the authority of the Queen v. Murray, a decision of the Supreme Court under this Act, doubts were felt by the Chairman upon the legality of this sentence. There were two questions raised; first, whether the powers of Justices of the Peace to deal with cases of this nature had been transferred under the 8th section to Judges of the Superior Courts; secondly, whether a penalty of imprisonment could be imposed at once, or only in default of payment of the fines to be imposed under this Act. In the case of the Queen v. Murray this latter question was decided in the negative,—i. e., that imprisonment could only be awarded on default of paying the fines imposable under this statute. When that case was argued, however, the 9th section of the Act was not passed under review, and it was submitted that this section gave a right to award imprisonment in lieu of fine.

The case was argued by the Attorney-General, no counsel appearing on the other side.

The Court held that the conviction and sentence were good. They were of opinion that the powers of the Justices were transferred to the Judges of the Superior Courts, and that under the 9th section an amount of imprisonment proportioned to the offence might be awarded. To this extent, therefore, the decision of the Court in the case of the Queen v. Murray was overruled.

IN RE JOHN FORD, ALIAS NATHANIEL CHANEY, AN INSOLVENT.

This was an appeal from the decision of the Chief Commissioner refusing to grant a certificate to the above-named insolvent, and holding him to bail on a charge of fraudulent insolvency.

Mr. Wise appeared for the opposing creditor; the insolvent appeared in person.

The decision of the Chief Commissioner was based upon the assumption that the use of a false name in the sequestration of an estate was a direct fraud within the meaning of the Act, as tending to defeat the claims of persons having demands against the insolvent under his real name, or who might subsequently deal with him under that name. It appeared that the insolvent had drawn a bill on England for £60, in his real name, and upon his mother, in favour of Muriel and Miller. This bill had been dishonoured, but insolvent had arranged to pay it by instalments, and had actually paid £30 of it. The assignee of Muriel and Miller had proved for the residue. According to the statement of the insolvent, he had come to this colony under the name of Ford, and had traded under that name for six years, contracting no liability under any other except in respect of this bill, which was drawn with a full knowledge by the creditor (who had dealt with him as Ford) of the real facts. On the return of this bill dishonoured, he (the insolvent) had arranged to pay it by instalments, and had never contemplated fraud. Having traded exclusively under the name of Ford he did not think that he had a right to sequestrate his estate under any other name.

Mr. Wise contended that the affidavit and schedule ought to have set out the real name of the insolvent, as well as that under which he had traded here. Failing in this, it was but plain that creditors at a distance might be defrauded. The learned gentleman admitted that this was not a case for imprisonment, but contended that the Chief Commissioner's refusal of the certificate ought to be upheld.

Their Honors, although admitting that a change of name was a circumstance to create suspicion, were of opinion that it was no offence in law. It was possible that a change of name might have been made with a view to frauds upon creditors, but there was no evidence whatever of any such intention in the present instance. The insolvent had traded for six years under the name of Ford, and there was no evidence of claims against him under any other name. Consequently this name was the proper one in which to sequestrate his estate. The Court could not in the absence of all evidence presume either a fraud in fact or a fraudulent intent. There was no ground therefore, either for punishing the insolvent by imprisonment or for withholding his certificate. The opposition, however, was a very natural one, and the Chief Commissioner had very naturally held that it was necessary, by a decision of this nature, to uphold the principles of commercial integrity in the most strict manner. The decision of the Chief Commissioner was therefore reversed, and the certificate granted.

DAVIS V. THE PENRITH BENCH OF MAGISTRATES.

This was an appeal from a decision of Mr. Justice Dickinson in chambers, reversing a decision by the Penrith Bench against the present appellant for a breach of the Publicans' Licensing Act.

The Solicitor-General appeared in support of the appeal, and Mr. Blakeney and Mr. Wise in support of the conviction.

The case did not terminate.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY.

BEFORE Mr. Allen, Mr. Cooper, Mr. Buchanan.

Thirteen persons were convicted of having been found drunk in the streets: one was fined 10s., and the rest 20s. each, or in default of payment to be imprisoned twenty-four hours. Two noted vagrants, Jane Murphy and Sarah Perkins, apprehended for drunkenness, were dealt with as idle and disorderly persons, and were sent to gaol for fourteen days.

Two prisoners, charged with robberies, under remand until to-day, were further remanded until to-morrow, in consequence of the unavoidable absence of the justice before whom the inquiry was initiated.

Some time had been occupied in the hearing of a case in which John Poehlmann, of George-street, publican, appeared on summons to answer an information by Timothie Cheval, of George-street, restaurant-keeper, for a breach of the 40th section of the Licensing Act, in not having the amount of accommodation for the public prescribed by that Act, when it was discovered that the information was defective of the signature of the magistrate before whom it was sworn or exhibited. The case was thereupon withdrawn.

The other cases on the summons sheet were either dismissed for want of parties, or postponed by arrangement.

WATER POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY.

BEFORE the Water Police Magistrate, Mr. J. Shoobert, and Major Wingate.

Peter Gilham and John Smith were brought before the Court by constable Malone, who had apprehended them on the Parramatta Road, suspecting that they were deserters from some ship or ships in the harbour. At the time they were taken, they gave two or three different accounts of themselves, at length they stated that they had come overland from Melbourne. When in Court, Gilham admitted that his proper name was Edward Carroll, and that having deserted from the whaler Sophia, at Jervis Bay, he had come from Shoalhaven by the coaster Sister. Smith confessed that his right name was Roger Beers, and that he also deserted from the Sophia, and came up to Sydney by a schooner, of which he did not know the name, though he was aware the captain's name was Robert Langley. Prisoners were remanded until Monday for further evidence.

Robert Crisp and Isaac Jacobs, who had been apprehended by constable Malone, on the Parramatta Road, were charged with having deserted from the ship Meteor. The master of the vessel did not appear, but the owner on his behalf stated that he did not wish to press the charge. The master, however, was sent for, in order to produce the articles, and he then expressed his indifference as to the future services of Jacobs, with regard to which their worships suggested that if he did not wish to take Jacobs on board he should be formally discharged. Crisp, who pleaded guilty, was sentenced to four weeks' hard labour in gaol; Jacobs was admonished and discharged.

Francis Wildenburg was brought before the Court by constable Linane, who stated that he had apprehended prisoner about four and a-half miles off the Parramatta Road; he was going in the direction of Parramatta, and was carrying a large bundle; he said he had a discharge, and produced one dated the 1st of October, 1858; he afterwards admitted that he had run away from the ship Catteaux Wattel three or four weeks ago, and finding that the ship had not yet left the port, he was going out of the way when witness took him into custody. A warrant was produced for prisoner's apprehension. He pleaded guilty to the charge of desertion, and was sentenced to be imprisoned and kept to hard labour for twelve weeks.

John Connolly, Thomas Clewly, and Robert Lovell, parties who had been found in a state of intoxication in different public parts of the city, were severally fined 10s., in default of payment each to be imprisoned for twenty-four hours.

A youth named Charles Harden was, on the information of a John Murphy, charged with having committed an assault upon John Murphy, junr. (complainant's son). Mr. Borton appeared for the prosecution. The boy upon whom the offence was informant stated that he lived in Windmill-street, and that while at the back of the house defendant went up to him, put his hands over his eyes, and then pushed him down; defendant then tried to put Murphy's head into a bucket of whitewash, but as he could not do that, when Murphy rose, defendant picked up a handfull of the lime that was lying about, and threw it into his face; he had suffered much in his eyes, and had to undergo medical treatment; there had been no quarrel between the two boys, but they were in the habit of playing together. Harden was fined 1s., but was ordered to pay £1 19s. as costs incurred by complainant.

James Clarke was convicted of having used grossly insulting language towards Ellen Smith, for which offence he was fined 40s. and ordered to pay costs; in default he was sentenced to a month's imprisonment.

Daniel Patt and James Alexander Crosse, two seamen, who had been drunk and disorderly on board the ship Nimroud, were admonished and discharged.

Three Manilamen, Sulana, Hoshen, and Elfin, together with a man named William Andrews, were charged with gambling in the public streets. Constable Griffiths stated that, on Thursday morning, upon seeing a crowd congregated round a public-house in Phillip-street, he waited to see what was going on, and saw the four prisoners pitching coppers for about ten minutes. The constable then took them into custody on the charge above mentioned. The Bench, on consideration that the Manilamen were ignorant of the offence they were committing, administered to them a seasonable admonition, and discharged them. Andrews was also discharged, but it was ordered that he forfeit 1s. 7d. which was found on his person when apprehended.

WINDSOR DISTRICT COURT.

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

APRIL 11 AND 12.

BEFORE the District Judge, H. Cary, Esq.

DAY V. M'KENZIE.

The plaintiff, a surgeon and magistrate, residing at Windsor, claimed £25 of the defendant, a farmer at Pitt Town, for medical attendance on the defendant's wife, for a long period preceding her decease. The plaintiff swore distinctly to the several attendances for which he claimed, extending over a period of between one and two years. The defendant as positively swore that his wife had been attended by four other medical gentlemen, from Windsor, Richmond, and Parramatta, and that the plaintiff had never attended her at all. He admitted, however, that the plaintiff had attended his daughter in her confinement, some two or three years since, for which he had been paid thirty bushels of corn. The plaintiff, being recalled, admitted the receipt of the corn on the occasion alleged, but said that that attendance was long anterior to those now claimed for; and on further inquiry it appeared that the child to which the daughter gave birth at the time of the plaintiff's attendance on her, was now six years of age.

Under these circumstances, the Judge said it was incredible that a person in the plaintiff's station of life, should fabricate a false charge—that the defendant could easily call some one or more of the four medical gentlemen, who he said had attended his wife, or in their absence some member of his family to negative the plaintiff's evidence. To enable him to do this, his Honor offered to defer his decision until other witnesses were called. But this offer the defendant declined to avail himself of.

Judgment for the plaintiff, who consented to take twenty guineas.

Mr. Walker conducted the plaintiff's case; the defendant his own.

CONNELL V. RATHER.

This was a cause continued from the last sitting of the Court of Requests, at Windsor, and was for the recovery of a balance of £13 9s. 6d. due for timber cut by the plaintiff, for the erection of the new bridge at Richmond. The work contracted for had been executed by the plaintiff, in conjunction with one Anderson, and all had been paid for except that the value of which was sought to be recovered.

The defence was, that it was part of the agreement, that the defendant should be at liberty to reject any timber which he considered to be cut not according to contract; that he had rejected some which was still lying where it was cut, or at the bridge, whither the defendant himself had drawn it.

Mr. Walker, for the defendant, further objected, that Anderson having been mentioned, at the time of making the contract, as the person who would join with the plaintiff in executing it, ought to have been made a co-plaintiff.

The judgment for the plaintiff for £11 12s. 8d., allowing for part of the work proved to be defective.

The Judge observed that, the defendant could not, of his own caprice, reject work done, but must prove its deviation from the contract, which in the main he had failed to do.

On the second ground of defence, his Honor ruled that Anderson was not the plaintiff's partner in the legal acceptation of the term, with power to enforce the contract, or liability for its infraction or non-performance.

Mr. Coley, attorney for plaintiff; Mr Walker, for defendant.

MARSHALL V. LANE.

The plaintiff sought to recover £14 for the carriage of 280 bushels of corn by the Star, steamer, from Pitt Town to Sydney, at the rate of 1s. per bushel. The plaintiff stated that the book, which contained the entry of the quantity shipped, was lost when the vessel was wrecked on a subsequent voyage, but that he remembered one amount entered was that claimed for, and that the entry was made on the statement of Lane or his servants. The defendant, on the other hand, stated that only 200 bushels were sent, and that he was to pay freight, not by measurement, but by weight, calculated at 60 lbs. the bushel. He further proved that he had sold the whole cargo of corn to two persons, at a given price, and for a sum named, which shewed that he could have shipped only 170 bushels by weight, or 200 by measure. It appeared probable, from the evidence, that some one else had shipped the additional 80 bushels for which the plaintiff claimed, which had been erroneously charged to the defendant.

The Judge expressed himself dissatisfied with the evidence of the agreement to charge by weight, remarking that the defendant, who was present when the corn was shipped at Pitt Town, and again when it was delivered in Sydney, could easily have weighed it at either end of the voyage, which the plaintiff could not do without departing from his usual course of business. His Honor further remarked on the careless manner in which the traffic by steam on the Hawkesbury was conducted, no vouchers being given or required.

Judgment for the plaintiff, for £10, with full costs.

It was here objected that the verdict being for a sum not exceeding £10, the Judge could not allow the costs for a higher sum. But his Honor said he could not accede to such a proposition, and that were his own view of the law mistaken, he should give the plaintiff an additional shilling, so as to entitle him to his full costs.

Mr. Walker for plaintiff; Mr. Coley for defendant.

JOY V. FARLOW.

The plaintiff, an infirm old man, sought to recover a sum of £11 14s. for six months' wages at 9s. per week. The agreement and service were not disputed, but the defendant, to nearly £5 of the amount, relied on a set-off, consisting of several small payments on account, of a sum of 40s., which he claimed to deduct on account of the plaintiff's absence from work during thirty-two days of his period of service, and 5s., the value of a day which the defendant himself had lost through the plaintiff's neglect of duty. The defendant swore that it was agreed that such deduction should be made for every day of absence; this, however, the plaintiff denied, as he denied the fact of his absence at any period. The defendant, in support of his set-off, produced his wages book, which exactly tallied with his statement, and the entries in which he said were on every occasion made in his presence by his wife (who was not called) at the times when the several payments were made and the absences occurred. The plaintiff to some extent admitted the payments, but alleged that they were made in discharge of a former unsettled account for similar wages. The accuracy of this allegation was borne out by the book itself.

Mr. Williamson, for the plaintiff, observed that on reference to the calendar the defendant appeared to have charged the plaintiff with having been absent on several Sundays, for which he could have no right to deduct a day's pay, and contended that this threw discredit on the whole account. The Judge concurred with this view of the case, and remarking on other questionable entries in the same book, gave judgment in favour of the plaintiff for his whole claim.

The defendant had paid into Court the amount of £7 and upwards which he admitted to be due.

It appeared in the course of the case that the plaintiff, the day after he left the defendant's service, had been taken into the lock-up house, at Windsor, for protection, and had thence been removed to the Benevolent Asylum as destitute.

Mr. Walker, attorney for the plaintiff; Mr. Cole for the defendant.

Note.—It may be for the interest of the public who avail themselves of the facilities which the District Courts offer for the recovery of debts, to mention that several cases were rejected by the Court, because the particulars of demand were not sufficiently precise, being for "bill delivered," "balance of account," and the like. Others also were postponed from defect of service of the summonses, the return and proof being that they were served "on the premises," and not on any person on the premises. The rule is that, except in certain specified cases, the summonses "shall be either personal or by delivering the same to some person apparently fourteen years old, at the house or place of business of the defendant."

A VISIT TO THE WESTERN GOLD-FIELDS.

[FROM OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.]

No. XXIV.

BIDDING good day to the road-makers and the wayfarers, let us resume our route. We now pass a small farm on the right, and a large edifice, intended for an inn, on the left, when two miles over rich flats places us at the base of Cherrytree Hill; for some miles the summit of the range, maintaining its elevation, had become a plateau, the surface of which, broken by low ridges, consisted of either coarse ferruginous conglomerates or limestone, and since we passed Kane's flat a second series of precipitous ranges resting on these conglomerates or limestones rising on the left, first appeared in the form of isolated peaks and rugged cliffs, and then, as you advanced to the southward, increasing in height, formed a continuous wall, overhanging the lower range, diverging to the east and to the west; the easterly branch breaking into precipitous cliffs and solitary mountains of terrific grandeur descends into the lower system of ranges at Capertee; and the western, at the base of which we now stood, sinking, by a succession of declivities and narrow steppes, to the valley of the Turon. These mountains are the wreck of a marine deposit, with horizontal strata resting upon sedimentary formations; the marine deposits have in past ages raised the surface about 4000 feet above the level of the present valleys, and must have formed one vast arid desert. The climate is several degrees colder on these mountains than in the western valleys, and it is remarkable that, after a little study of the various strata, you can tell the relative elevation of any portion of the range by its formation.

Ascending Cherry-tree Hill by a road in the worst state of repair, but for which a handsome sum has been recently granted by the Legislature, you observe several varieties of sandstone formation, amongst which the most remarkable is a conglomerate consisting entirely of quartz pebbles, and a red ferruginous cement. This quartzose conglomerate presents itself again on the Cannobolus range, one hundred miles to the westward; always at a great elevation. It must have covered an extensive tract of the original surface, but whence derived is matter for future research. Reaching the summit, you have a magnificent view of the auriferous west, with its lower levels and descending ranges, and now find ironstone in abundance, and the surface is blood-red with the oxide of that metal. You now proceed over a second plateau for two miles, when, descending again to the level of the lower range, you cross the source of the running stream bordered by extensive swampy flats, and passing another inn in progress on an extensive scale. Three miles further brings you to a large farm at Round Swamp, and another mile to a respectable road-side house, where numerous paddocks and a few patches of cultivation, give an improved aspect to the locality. As you proceed the plateau maintains its elevation and width for six miles, the surface becoming more rocky and sterile. It now gradually contracts, and you find yourself on the summit of a narrow ridge. On the right the country falls to the basin of the Upper Turon, and on the left precipitous rocks descend to the Capertee ranges, and the basin of the Colo. The depth of the valleys on either side appear to correspond, and I am informed by those intimately acquainted with the district, that the same granitic and quartziferous schistose formations are to be discovered at the lowest points and on the inferior ridges—that the Capertee River presents all the auriferous indications of the Turon, and that shepherds, after three or four months' service on the eastern stations have brought away as much as 10 or 15 ounces of gold obtained by prospecting in the channels of streams' tributary to the Hawkesbury River. If this is the fact, of which I have little doubt, and if a sufficiently extensive denudation of the schistose formations has taken place to the eastward, there is every probability that a gold-field will be found to exist much nearer Sydney than any yet worked. I have heard of prospecting parties having been out on these waters when gold was first discovered. They always obtained the precious metal, but not in sufficient quantities at that period to compensate for the fearful difficulties attending the transit of supplies. At that date, the Turon and the Meroo, with all the gold-fields on the western side of the range were at their zenith, and the temptations were great to recross the mountains, and abandon what was doubtful for what was sure; if the Capertee country was now thoroughly prospected it is beyond question that more or less payable ground would be discovered.

Pursuing the road five miles further along the summit of the range, trending due south, the declivities under the walls of calcareous sandstone, many of which slope gently to the valleys, are admirably adapted for the cultivation of the choicest varieties of the Spanish grape vine, and would produce a wine devoid of that earthy flavour which detracts from the value of that produced on alluvial flats. The most valuable wines of Spain and Portugal are the growth of a soil in every respect corresponding with that to be found on the southern slopes of these calcareous ranges. The greatest mistake made by the cultivators of the grape in this colony has been in the selection of a rich alluvial loam for their vineyards, which, while it increased the quantity, deteriorated the quality of the fruit. An arenacious, or gravelly soil, consisting of at least fifty per cent. of carbonate of lime, is essential to the production of a sound, dry wine, and situations possessing these requisites can be found on the declivities of the ranges where irrigation is practicable.

And here you approach the highest portion of the range. The ridge narrows still more, and the road becomes excellent, as, scarped over the edge of an abyss, it carries you along the side of the Crown Ridge, under the castellated crags which, like a diadem, rest upon its uplifted head, and give evidence that it is but the wreck of a still greater elevation. Immense masses of the quartzose conglomerate, intermixed with indurated schists, indicate the breaking up of a system of silurian rocks prior to the formation of this island, which were, no doubt, elevated by submarine volcanic action. Here heavy boulders, and large stones, tell of exposed capes, of shallow seas, of rushing storms, and breakers thundering along a shore; and these smaller pebbles equalized in form and size, such as children love to gather, speak of the gentle ripple of some sheltered bay.

And now let us turn to the eastward, where undulating ridges denuded to the silurian formations, broken by small streams, and covered with a dense forest stretch from the base of the precipitous heights on which we stand, to where the sandstone formation again towering upwards in rugged grandeur, present a line of cliffs whose deep caverns have re-echoed the hollow roar of the retreating surges as this vast continent, emerging from its ocean bed, became dry land. Oh, for the pen of the stonemason of Cromarty, the great Hugh Miller, to trace the Almighty hand in these stupendous works!

And now, descending from our elevation, we pass another caravansary at the base of the mountain, when we leave the lofty ranges which, sweeping to the eastward, connect themselves with Mount Victoria and the easterly chain at the Weatherboard Hut, and following the road over rich mountain flats for four miles, reach Ben Bullen, where our journey terminates, and we seek the shelter of a road-side inn.

POLITICAL ECONOMY.

No. XVI.

OBSTACLE taken for cause.—Famine taken for abundance. It is the same sophism taken under another aspect. Let us examine it.

Man is naturally denuded of everything. Between that state of want and the possession of all he requires numberless obstacles exist, and the end of his labour is to overcome them. It is curious enough to remark how and why these obstacles to his well-being have become in his eyes the very sources of his happiness.

Suppose we wish to go to a place a hundred miles distant. Between our point of departure and our destination there lie mountains and rivers and forests, in a word, obstacles; to overcome them we must employ efforts, or what comes to the same thing, others must do so for us, and make us pay the price of them. Is it not clear we should have been better off had these obstacles not existed.

In traversing that long road which leads from the cradle to the tomb, man requires an enormous multitude of products, either to protect him from the sun and rain, to enable him to exist, or to ward off sickness. Hunger, thirst, heat, cold, and ill health, are so many obstacles strewn along his path;—were he a solitary animal he would combat these by hunting, fishing, tillage, spinning, weaving, and building. It is clear that it would be better for him did these obstacles exist in only a very small extent, or even if they were not to exist at all.

When man forms one of a community he does not in his own person endeavour to overcome each obstacle, but others assist him, and he in his turn assists others in removing the obstacles that lie along their path. Is it not, then, very clear that, looking to the world at large, it would be to the advantage of the human family that these obstacles should be as small and as few as possible.

But in scrutinizing the details of the social phenomena we soon perceive how men have managed to confound their wants with their riches, and an obstacle with a cause. The faculty of exchanging has induced a separation of employments, causing each man to devote his labour to combating a single obstacle instead of struggling with all those that surround him. That one to which he devotes his attention he overcomes not for himself alone, but also for all his fellow-men, while they in their turn perform for him a like service. Hence does each man see the immediate cause of his well-being in the obstacle he makes it his business to combat for other men—and the more important the obstacle the more grievously it is felt—the higher will be the price his fellow-men are prepared to pay him for having overcome it for them.

A physician, for example, does not busy himself to cook his food, to manufacture his surgical instruments, to weave or to make his clothing. Others do it for him, and he, in his turn, seeks to cure the ill health of his clients; and the greater the amount of sickness, the more serious its nature, the more they are contented to pay him for his personal exertions. In so far as he is concerned, sickness, which is of all others the most serious obstacle to the well-being of mankind, is the source of his own personal well-being. And the same reasoning will apply to all producers. Thus the shipowner lives on the obstacle called distance, the farmer on the one we call hunger, the spinner on the one we call cold, the lawyer on the one we call strife—the same as the physician does on the one we call sickness; so true is it that each profession has an immediate interest in the continuation and increase of the obstacle he devotes his special labour to conquer. Seeing which the Protectionists have built up a theoretical system on these individual opinions and say, want is wealth; labour is riches; the obstacle to well-being is human happiness, and by multiplying obstacles we give increased food to industry. Then the statesman steps in, and employs force to aid him in propagating and developing obstacles, since by so doing he propagates and developes wealth. He says, for example, if I can prevent sawn stuff to come to us from those places where wood is abundant, I shall create an obstacle in obtaining it, and when that obstacle is felt to be onerous, people will pay to be freed from it, a certain number of our fellow-citizens will lay themselves out to overcome it, and thus the obstacle I have created will make their fortune. The dearer wood becomes, the more difficult it is to bring to market, the further off it is from the place of consumption, the greater the employment of labour this occupation will afford. Yes, he exclaims, I will prohibit foreign wood, and thus create an obstacle, so as to create the labour which may combat it.

Following the same reasoning, all machines will be prohibited, for example, men require houses to live in, that is an obstacle—when a certain number of men devote themselves to the manufacture of bricks to overcome it, and his employment is afforded to a certain amount of national labour, receiving wages in consequence—some man of genius discovers a machine, which draws the water, puddles the clay, and moulds the bricks, thus throwing a certain number of brickmakers out of employ. Why not prohibit the machine?

Suffice it, once for all, to pronounce that human labour is a means and not an end. It can never remain without occupation, if it have overcome one obstacle it will attack another, and thus will humanity be freed from two obstacles by the same amount of labour which formerly destroyed but one. If the labour of the brickmaker become ever useless it will seek other employment. But with what will it be paid? says the Protectionist.

Precisely with what it is paid to-day, for when a certain amount of labour becomes disposable in consequence of the suppression of an obstacle, a certain amount of capital to be employed in wages becomes also disposable. To say that human labour can end by wanting employment, is to say that humanity will cease to encounter obstacles. Then we grant you that labour will not only be impossible, but superfluous. We should no longer have anything to do, because we should be all-powerful, and our sole fiat would suffice to satisfy every want and desire.

POLICE COURT.—There has been nothing of consequence before this Court lately. Each day one or two have been fined either for drunkenness or indecent language. On Tuesday last Roger Conlan was apprehended, he not having appeared to a summons charging him with stripping bark off trees at Castle Hill, the property of Mr. John Purchase, on which charge he was found guilty and fined 10s., and for using grossly abusive and insulting language to the Bench, a further fine of £2 was inflicted. On Thursday there were two charges for furious driving on the Western Road. One of the defendants, James Little, did not appear, the other, George Kendall was fined £5. A case for wages was adjourned until Tuesday for want of further evidence. Friday:—Before F. O. Darvall, J. Lackey, J. Byrnes, and C. M'Crae, Esqrs. James Wilkinson was charged with feloniously stealing £48, and his mother, Elizabeth Williamson, with being an accessory to the same. Mr. Lyons appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. Gould for the defence. George Ardill, sergeant of police, said that he apprehended the prisoners at their residence in Billyard-street, Parramatta, he told them the charge, and cautioned them that they need not say anything unless they liked; James Wilkinson said "I found the money and gave it to my mother;" the female prisoner said "My boy gave it to me, and I gave it to the man that I thought was the right owner, but there was not so much as £48." Mr. J. Hackett, on being sworn, stated that on Wednesday, the 6th instant, he received £500 in Parramatta, 130 sovereigns, and the remainder in notes; he separated the notes from the sovereigns, which he tied up in a handkerchief, and put into his trousers pocket; the notes he rolled up into four different parcels, some of which he put into his right hand coat pocket, and some into his left; one of the bundles contained £48; he then went home with his daughter; he lived on the Pennant Hills Road; as soon as he got home he locked the whole of his money in a drawer and put the key in his pocket; before he went to bed he counted it, and missed the £48; heard that Mrs. Williamson had the money, and spoke to her about it the day before yesterday; she said that she had paid £46 to some one who said he had come from Bathurst, and claimed the money, and she had since been told that she had done very wrong in paying it away to an unknown person. Cross-examined by Mr. Gould: I received the money between three and four o'clock in the afternoon, and about an hour after I went home; I received it at Mr. Andrew Payten's Australian Arms, and walked from there to Ferris' shop, where I had left my cart, and from there I went direct home; near my gate I met three boys; I believe the male prisoner to be one of them; Andrew Sprowle lives in Church-street; knows the prisoners; witness with his brother James Williamson and Patrick Halloran were out at Mr. Hackett's on Wednesday week; as they were coming home Williamson picked up a roll of notes; they went into a paddock and counted them; believes there were six £5 and twenty-one £1 notes; Halloran said to Williamson that the best thing he could do would be either to take them to his father or else to keep them till he could find an owner; witness and his brother accompanied Williamson home, and after remaining about ten or fifteen minutes outside the house, Mrs. Williamson came out and in presence of her husband gave them £2; witness saw Mrs. Williamson last Wednesday and returned her the £2; she asked why he did not give £1 to his mother; he said "What for?" Cross-examined: Did not hear Mrs. W. say that she owed his mother £2, and that was to pay it. Patrick Halloran corroborated the last witness. Mr. Lyons contended that the real persons committing the larceny were Mr. and Mrs. Williamson, and that the boy was exonerated when he gave up the money to his mother. Mr. Gould quoted a great many cases, and entered into a long argument to prove that no larceny whatever was committed. The Bench were of opinion that the arguments adduced might be of force addressed to a jury, but that as the law required that due diligence should be used to ascertain the owner, and that this had not been done, it was their duty to commit the prisoners. They were, therefore, committed to next Quarter Sessions. Bail allowed; £25 each, with two securities £25 each.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Last Sunday a man named Humphrey Gates was crossing from Campbelltown, through the bush to Mr. Lawson's farm at Prospect, when he was thrown from his cart; assistance was procured, and he was removed to Prospect, where he died the same evening. On the following day an inquest was held by C. B. Lyons, Esq., coroner, and a verdict of Accidental Death returned.

WINDSOR.

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

APRIL 14.—ECCLESIASTICAL.—Our district has recently been visited in his episcopal capacity by the Bishop of Sydney. On Saturday last, according to appointment, his Lordship administered the rite of Confirmation to about sixty candidates, chiefly young persons of both sexes, who, under the direction and care of the Rev. Mr. Stiles, incumbent of the parish, presented themselves for the purpose at St. Matthew's Church, Windsor. The sacred edifice was crowded on the occasion with an attentive audience; and, lightened by the pure white robes of the fair young suppliants, presented a most interesting appearance. The following day a similar service took place at St. Peter's Church, Richmond, to nearly as many parties, introduced by the Rev. Mr. Elder. The next day, Monday, his Lordship proceeded to Pitt Town, when he consecrated the new church there, of which the Rev. Mr. Wilson is the incumbent, and which has been finished and in ordinary use for some time. On Tuesday the Bishop crossed the river to Wilberforce, and there another church, under the pastorage of Mr. Wilson, awaited consecration, which was duly performed by his Lordship, and, at the same time and place, twenty-nine persons received the imposition of his hands and were confirmed. The Wilberforce services were well attended.

INQUESTS.—On Monday morning last, the 11th instant, an inquest took place before Dr. Dowe, the coroner for the district, and a jury, at Windsor, on the body of Mr. Thomas Dargin, butcher, who had died suddenly during the night or early in the morning of the previous day. There was no positive or direct evidence to account for the superinducing cause of death. It could merely be concluded, from circumstances, that the deceased had, whilst in some stupor, got up out of his bed, being in a room by himself, had fallen against the window and had cut his head and temple so severely with the glass that, from the consequent loss of blood, death had ensued. He was known to have been in a weakly state of health, was occasionally subject to fits, and did not sufficiently guard himself from their attacks. He met with the accident about six o'clock on Saturday evening. In half an hour or so Dr. Dowe was in attendance, but all efforts to recover him from the loss of blood were unavailing, and he died about one or two o'clock on Sunday morning. The jury returned the following verdict (rather an uncommon one)—that deceased had "died from apoplexy, caused by loss of blood and neglect of himself, which predisposed him to such a death." Another inquest took place on Wednesday, before the Coroner and a jury, in Windsor, on the body of a married woman, aged 40, named Mary Easton, wife of John Easton, butcher. The deceased had been found suddenly dead, in a dilapidated house in George-street, during the morning. It appeared she was much addicted to drinking, and, under Dr. Day's medical testimony, the jury found that death had ensued from dysentery, brought on by intemperance.

MID-DAY MAIL.—Since Monday last, a mid-day mail has been started for Windsor, leaving Sydney by the ten o'clock morning train, and arriving in Windsor about 2 p.m. A return mail is then despatched for Sydney, at half-past two, from Windsor, arriving in Sydney that night. We cannot perceive that this will be much advantage, and that it is worth the increased expenditure, inasmuch as the mail, arriving in Sydney, will be too late for delivery that night; and there is only about an hour in the morning, from half-past eight or nine to ten to answer letters, a thing that will rarely be done in so short a space, no business being transacted so early in the morning in Sydney.

NEWCASTLE.—Mr. David T. Allan has been appointed Government Marine Surveyor of passenger ships, for the port of Newcastle, vice Mr. Alexander Livingstone.

MAITLAND AND MORPETH.

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

APRIL 15.—On Thursday evening a most important meeting of the parishioners of St. Mary's, West Maitland, was held in the Schoolroom, the Bishop of Newcastle in the chair. The meeting was well attended by the most influential inhabitants, members of the Church of England. The objects of the meeting were twofold—first, to remodel the branch of the Newcastle Diocesan Society, on a plan proposed by the Bishop, which it was his intention to carry out throughout the whole of the diocese; and, second, to raise funds for the erection of a new and much larger and commodious church. The meeting was opened with prayer.

The Lord Bishop then said, it was with great pleasure he came among them that evening. A very earnest feeling existed in regard to the wants of the parish, and an ardent desire to supply those wants. There was first a wish to adopt new measures as to the support of the Diocesan Society for maintenance of the clergy in poor districts, and secondly for the erection of a new and commodious church. On the first head he wished to propose a plan somewhat different from what had been formerly carried out. In the course of his lengthened visitations in the interior he had met with many of the most intelligent laymen in the country, and from them he had received some most valuable hints. He wished to act on these hints, for the improvement of the Newcastle Diocesan Society. He had heard that if the calls for money by that society were made for improvements within their own district, they would be more willingly and generously responded to, as many could not understand the working of the Newcastle Diocesan Society. He had therefore, after consulting with the chief men among the laity, proposed a change in their mode of operation, and in the districts where the new plan had been adopted the fund had been increased, and in some cases doubled. The plan was that in each parish they should contribute to their own parish fund, but that in the first place the Diocesan Society should have a preferent claim of £210 per annum—£200 being for the support of the clergy and other religious purposes, and £10 for general expenses. All above that sum should be at the disposal of the laity for religious purposes within the parish. Every member ought to consider what he could give for religious and charitable purposes, not after he had served himself, but from the first fruits of his income, for that was what the Lord claimed. He was delighted to hear that there was a general feeling among the parishioners for a new church, and if they contributed liberally there would be no difficulty in borrowing a sum sufficient to complete the building. By the increased accommodation and pew rents they would realise as much as would pay the interest from year to year, and by degrees liquidate the debt. He might mention that a year ago he was surprised to see the low sum contributed to the Diocesan Society by the parish of St. Mary's, West Maitland, and he then took it upon himself to advance £50 that such a populous district should not appear so low upon the list. He was not in the habit of thus personally advancing money on behalf of any parish, but when going round a few days ago amongst the parishioners, he realised the sum of £81, thus paying off the debt, and leaving £31 for their contributions for the present year.

Mr. P. Green, J.P., proposed the first resolution, as follows:—"That this meeting approves of the establishment of a Parochial Church Fund, instead of soliciting contributions for the Newcastle Church Society, and that all the members of the parish and district of St. Mary's, West Maitland, be invited to become annual contributors to their own Parochial Church Fund, with the understanding that the first claim upon the Parochial Church Fund shall be the payment of £210 to the Church Society of the Diocese, while the remainder of the Parochial Church Fund shall be under the control of the parishioners of St. Mary's, to be applied to any church objects which they may desire to promote." This resolution was very explicit, and coupled with the explanations of his lordship, could not be misunderstood. It was simply this, that they should annually subscribe to the Church Fund £210, and all further sums would be at the disposal of the laity.

The Rev. Mr. Winfield, of the Wollombi, seconded the resolution, which was put and carried unanimously.

Mr. Richard Sadleir moved, "That the officers of this Parochial Church Fund be the church-wardens of the parish, treasurers, minister of the parish, secretary, and the following members of committee, with power to add to their number, and to appoint authorised collectors of the annual contributions: Messrs. F. Doyle, P. Green, Briggs, G. Vinden, Swire, J. A. Turner, H. Rourke, Tenson, J. Gorrick, sen., A. J. Doyle, S. Butter, and T. Cadell."

Mr. Henry Rourke seconded the resolution, which was put and carried unanimously.

The Rev. R. Chapman then proposed the third resolution, viz., "That this meeting desires to express its earnest wish that a new church should be erected for the parish of St. Mary's with as little delay as possible; such church to be erected at a cost of about £5000, and that as soon as £2000 of that sum is available, the general church building committee already appointed, with power to add to their numbers, are hereby authorised to commence the works." This resolution claimed the attention of all present, and they could thus well advance the cause of God, quickly, simply, and easily. This resolution came at once to the point, and would test the parishioners of St. Mary's. They would require to put their hands in their pockets, but the erection of a church for the service of God, was one of the noblest works of man. It was an honour and a privilege to have a share in erecting a temple to the glory of God. Twenty years ago their church was considered a noble building, but considering the altered circumstances of the colony, and the wealth which was among them, they ought to have an edifice worthy of them.

Mr. G. Vindin seconded the resolution, which was supported by Mr. J. A. Turner, and carried unanimously.

Bishop Heber's Missionary Hymn was then sung, and the benediction pronounced by the Lord Bishop; after which, a subscription for the building of the new church was entered into.

On Thursday evening, the prize essay on the Cause of Britain's Greatness was read by its author, Mr. Samuel Baker, in the hall of the School of Arts, West Maitland.

There is as yet no appearance of the steam dredge commencing operations on the flats below Morpeth. It seems to be thought that the people of Newcastle will endeavour to keep it to themselves as long as possible, and it is becoming now pretty evident that to do justice to the people of this district, and considering the tax laid on them, there should be two dredges constantly at work—one at Newcastle, and the other on the flats. This mode of procedure would be the cheapest in the long run. I hear that some tenders have been made for the repair of the road between Maitland and Morpeth. It is feared, however, that it is already too late in the season, and that with every exertion little can be done, and the road will therefore be almost impassable during the winter.

THE UNEMPLOYED.—Yesterday afternoon a meeting was held in Hyde Park, to hear the results of a conference between a deputation from the unemployed to the Government, sent in order to ascertain what amount of assistance, in the shape of labour, on public works, for which votes had been given in the Legislature, could be afforded to those at present unable to obtain employment. Mr. J. H. West and Mr. W. Jennet, who constituted the deputation, informed the meeting that they had had an interview with the Secretaries, Mr. Cowper and Mr. Robertson, who received them with courtesy and gave considerable attention to the matter thus brought under their notice. With regard to the means of affording employment on the public undertakings, an intimation was given by the Ministers that the works connected with the alteration of the Circular Quay, and the construction of a tramway along Pitt-street (the latter of which was delayed only for the decision of the law officers as to the authority of the Government to proceed, independently of the Municipal Council), were now about to be commenced, and would probably absorb the disengaged labour in the city. Hopes were held out by the Ministers that the tramway would be commenced on Monday next, and it was notified that the work would be paid by the job, not by the day. The meeting separated on the understanding that they should assemble again to-morrow, to ascertain whether the Government could proceed, or whether any arrangement for that purpose had been made with the municipal body.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.—On Sunday last, a half caste woman, named Eliza Jude, about 18 years of age, residing at Armatree, on the Castlereagh River, left her home for the purpose of going to see her sister living at Yaragrin. She stayed with her sister one night, and left the next morning on her way back, but has not since been heard of. The horse she rode, with saddle and bridle, was found at one of Mr. Bennett's stations. A handkerchief fastened to the saddle, which had contained two gown pieces, given to the missing woman by her sister, was hanging in strips.—Mudgee Newspaper.

PRODUCE CIRCULAR.

Wool.—The arrivals since last report have been below an average. Purchases are still made with caution, and until further advices there is no prospect of any material improvement.

Sheepskins.—The demand is good for full fleeced skins, and few arriving, for which, however, extreme prices are paid, and skins of a few months' growth meet ready sale.

Tallow.—The town trade are very bare of stock, and to supply their immediate wants have readily paid an advance on last week's prices. There are several orders for tallow from the neighbouring colonies, which have not been executed from the extreme scarcity and high figures ruling. It must be some time yet before any of this season's boiling can arrive.

Hides.—The demand continues good for consumption, and prices firm, but at the quoted rates few are inclined to venture in the market for shipment.

Stock and Station.—Since our last we have advices from Melbourne, showing that a considerable amount of business has been done in pastoral properties, and the following stations have changed hands, namely—the "Tuppal" stations on the north side of the Murray River, with twenty thousand (20,000) sheep, for thirty-one thousand seven hundred and fifty pounds (£31,750). "Lixington" Station, in Portland Bay district, with thirty-five thousand (35,000) sheep and one thousand (1000) cattle at twenty-two shillings (22s.) for the former, and six pounds ten shillings (£6 10s.) per head for the latter. The "Mulberryhong" and "Burrabogie" Stations, on the Murrumbidgee River, with thirty-five thousand (35,000) sheep, and four hundred (400) head of cattle, have been sold for fifty-five thousand pounds (£55,000). Several other sheep stations in the southern districts, have also changed hands, at from 20s. to 28s. per head. In this market transactions are limited, but there is no difficulty in quitting first-class properties at satisfactory rates. Our sales have been "Pallal" Station, on the Gwydir River, with three thousand five hundred (3500) cattle (not mustered), at ten thousand pounds (£10,000). "Tareela" Station, with three thousand (3000) cattle, and two hundred and seventy (270) horses at sixty (60s.) shillings per head for the former, and six pounds (£6) per head for the latter. "Kangaroo Hills" station, for sixteen hundred pounds (£1600) for the run, and all the cattle to be taken at forty-five shillings (45s.) per head. The "Buaraba" Station, offered at auction on Tuesday last, was not sold.

Store Sheep and Cattle.—There have been a few transactions, and late quotations are fully maintained. The ten rams (Spanish merinoes) advertised for auction, have been disposed of privately for two hundred pounds (£200).

Fat Stock.—The market has been fully supplied, and both sheep and cattle have sold at very low rates, but as several drafts have been taken out of the market, we have reason to look for advanced prices next week; during the past week the following prices have ruled:—

Cattle	£3 17 0	to	£4 4 0
Sheep	0 11 0	"	0 14 0

Freights to London—
Wool, ⅜d. to ½d. per lb., in full

Tallow, 35s. to 45s. per ton

Cocoanut oil, 40s. to 50s. per tun
Gold, ¼ per cent. by sailing vessels, ⅜ ditto by steamer.
Exchange on London—Bank drafts, ½ per cent. premium at 60 days' sight.
Private Bills (with produce hypothecated) no discount, if drawn against tallow, wool, or gold.

Store Cattle.—There is no material alteration from recent quotations, but a continued demand for well bred store cattle. Superior mixed lots, from 40s to 45s; all bullocks, from 60s to 63s. Deliverable at Maiden's Punt: For mixed lots, from 70s to 75s; all bullocks, from 90s to 95s.

Horses.—Superior harness and hacks enquired for. Low class and fillies very dull of sale.

Stations.—Good fattening, lightly and unstocked stations very saleable, but very few in the market.

Wool.—The wool market is in rather an unsettled state. Inferior and seedy wools are very dull of sale, and very little of a superior quality arriving this last week. Superior clips, 1s 8½d to 2s; fair to good, 1s 6d to 1s 8d; grease, 8d to 11½d.

Tallow.—From the great scarcity, and orders from the neighbouring colonies, prices have ruled this week fully from £2 10s to £5, in advance of previous quotations. The whole of the quantity offered taken by the town trade, at the following prices:—Mutton, from £60 to £62 per ton; beef, from £47 to £54 5s per ton; station, from £51 to £58 5s per ton.

Hides.—This market very firm. Prices obtained this week ranged from 6s 9d to 16s 6d each, according to quality.

RAYMOND and CO., Lyons-buildings, George-street, Sydney, 15th April.

STOCK CIRCULAR.

Mr. Thomas Dawson reports:—

Fat Cattle.—The supply fully equal to the demand; a large number of second class cattle are coming to hand, which are being sold as store stock at from 50s. to 65s.; prime quality cattle are worth about 15s. per 100 lbs.

Fat Sheep.—Some good flocks have arrived this week, which have kept the market full; consequently prices have not advanced. Prime quality wethers are worth 14s. to 16s.

Store Cattle are inquired after, and in brisk demand at former quotations.

Store Sheep are in demand, if in large lots; young ewes, in particular, at 10s. and 12s.; wethers ditto.

Horses.—The market overdone with lots of inferior, useless stock, that are scarcely saleable at any price; really good, useful well-broken animals in good condition go off readily at satisfactory prices.

Cows.—Springers and milkers are in demand; if good, will sell well.

421, George-street, Sydney, 15th April.

The Wellington passengers are not yet released from quarantine. The demand for labour has been general this week. Female servants are scarce, and enquiries are numerous both for town and country. Single farm servants are in demand, wages from £30 per annum.

J. C. GLUE, 163, Pitt-street North.

MAITLAND MARKETS—Friday, 15th April.

Trade during the present week has been very steady, and many purchases were made in the early part of the week by the small settlers, who with their families had come to Maitland to see the cricket match.

The price of wool, tallow, and hides remain at former quotations.

In wheat a considerable number of purchases have been made at from 5s 6d to 5s 9d per bushel; the extreme price quoted is a very fine lot purchased at 6s 6d per bushel. A very fair quantity is now coming in, but the wheat generally, though sound, is very dirty, having more than the ordinary proportion of rye-grass seed, smut, and tares—thus rendering it unfit for first-class flour for exportation.

Maize is offered freely at 2s. 6d. per bushel, but the transactions are not heavy, owing to the Sydney markets being very little in advance of what prevails in Maitland.

Flour (mill prices): fine, 18s; seconds, 16s; bran, 7s per 100 lbs. Bran at present is not in good demand, and, as quoted above, has sustained a reduction of £1 per ton. Bread, 8d per 2 lb. loaf.

Hay is almost unsaleable, but may be quoted at from £3 10s to £3 15s per ton.

In farm produce, colonial bacon is purchased at from 8d to 9d per lb.; ham, 9d per lb.; lard, 6d to 7d per lb.

In dairy produce, fresh butter is purchased wholesale at from 1s 3d to 1s 6d per lb.; salt butter, 1s per lb.; cheese, colonial 6d to 7d.

In vegetables—Potatoes are sold freely at 3s per cwt.; onions, 2s 6d to 4s, but the smaller sorts for keeping and pickling realise higher prices, up to 5s 6d; cabbages, good, 5s per dozen; pumpkins, 3s to 3s 6d; vegetable marrows, 3s; broad beans, 6d to 9d per peck.

In fruit—Apples are bought at from 1s to 1s 6d per dozen; pears, 9d to 1s per dozen, very large and of fine quality; new oranges, 1s 3d to 1s 6d per dozen; lemons, 3d per dozen; water and rock melons are now entirely out, those brought to market are too ripe for shipment to Sydney.

In poultry—Fowls, per pair, 3s to 3s 6d; ducks, 3s 6d; geese, 6s to 7s; turkeys, 8s to 10s; eggs, 1s 6d per dozen, wholesale.

The leather market is quite stationary at former quotations.

WEEKLY PRODUCE REPORT.

No alteration in prices of wheat, hay, or corn. The continuance of dry weather will, in a short time, cause a demand for these articles, but simply a demand without increase of price for some time to come. Large onions of a keeping sort are not of greater value than last week, but the crops of this description is becoming less and less in the hands of producers, and the good keeping small sorts will shortly bring a slightly higher price. Wheat, 5s 6d to 6s 6d; lucerne hay, to £3, dull of sale; potatoes, 2s 9d to 3s; corn, at 2s 6d. The continuance of dry weather will retard the ploughing for wheat in the district.—D. C. Carter, auctioneer and broker, West Maitland.

MELBOURNE STOCK MARKET, April 11.

Fat Cattle.—A large supply came forward, greatly in excess of requirements, and the quality chiefly second class and inferior, many lots not realising beyond store prices. The few prime bullocks offered brought from £7 to £10; cows from £3 to £7.

Store Cattle.—I have sold during the week 1050 bullocks, at £4 10s., and 250 cows at £3 per head, delivered on the Murray; and 500 mixed cattle, at £3 5s., delivered on the Murrumbidgee, and there is a fair demand for well-bred store cattle.

Fat Sheep.—This market remains very dull, and only first quality find purchasers, at about late quotations, say from 18s. to 20s. for wethers.

Store Sheep.—In good enquiry, and as sheep come forward, and the season advances, I expect a brisk business.

Horses.—Owing to the scarcity of fresh useful stock, very little has been doing in this market.

CHARLES BROWN, Stock and Commission Agent.

SYDNEY MARKETS.—Friday.

[Unless otherwise expressed, the prices quoted in this article are those in transactions between the producer and the first purchaser; not as between one dealer and another, much less the retail prices.]

Vegetables.—Potatoes £3 to £4, onions £5 to £8 per ton. Cabbages 3s to 10s, lettuces 1s to 2s 6d, pumpkins 4s to 8s, vegetable marrow 2s to 4s per dozen. Turnips 3s to 5s, carrots, 1s 6d to 2s 6d, celery 3s to 6s, parsnips 1s 6d to 2s 6d, leeks 1s to 1s 6d per dozen bunches. French beans, 2s to 3s, green peas 8s to 10s per bushel.

Bark.—£5 to £5 10s per ton.

SYDNEY HORSE MARKETS.

The horse market has varied but little since last report. The same steady demand exists for well broken useful harness horses. Country lots continue to come in pretty regularly, and when good, sell readily and well. Since last report we have sold 35 colts, bred by Mr. Isaac Shepherd, of Goulburn (unbroken), at an average of £16 14s. each; 20 colts and mares, bred near Berrima, also unbroken, from £4 to £14 each; a lot of 20 broken in horses and mares, from Kiama, at from £20 to £39 each; a number of draught horses, from £28 to £45, and about 30 hackneys for overland journeys, from £15 to £35 each. We have also purchased about 70 brood mares for shipment to India.—S. C. Burt and Co.'s Horse Repository, Pitt and Castlereagh streets.

Mr. Charles Martyn reports:—The horse market has not been particularly brisk during the past week. There has been offered at each sale a large number of horses, but very few of a really good stamp were to be met with in the various country lots brought in. Prices are low for light and inferior stock, but for sound and useful saddle or harness horses there is a good demand. First class gig horses have sold during the week, at prices, ranging from £30 to £55. The draught stallion Farmer's Glory, fetched £172 10s.

Mr. S. Wooller reports:—The market is firm for good horses, and although prices are no higher than last week, there was the usual attendance of buyers, and a fair supply of good horses, and sold freely. There is at present a request for good saddle and cart horses. Inferior stock no sale for them.

MERCANTILE AND MONEY ARTICLE.

Friday Evening.

The amount of gold coin issued by the Sydney branch of the Royal Mint during the week ended to-day, April 15th, has been 20,000 sovereigns.

The Western, Southern, and Northern Escorts have arrived during the week from the several gold-fields, and delivered at the Sydney branch of the Royal Mint the following quantities of gold-dust. Western: from Sofala, 729 ozs. 19 dwts. 10 grs.; Bathurst, 257 ozs. 17 dwts. 15 grs.; Louisa Creek, 940 ozs. 14 dwts. 16 grs.; Tambaroora, 476 ozs. 12 dwts. 22 grs.; Mudgee, 283 ozs. 14 dwts.; Orange, 47 ozs, 15 dwts; Stoney Creek, 12 ozs. This is a very satisfactory return, and shows a large increase in the yield of gold from the Southern and Northern gold-fields.

The Share Market has been quiet this week, and the transactions that have taken place have been to a moderate amount. Bank of New South Wales shares have again advanced 15s. per share, and Australian Joint Stock Bank shares, 5s. per share. There is still some inquiry for the shares of both these companies, but holders are asking higher rates. The following are the prices at which sales have been effected:—Bank of New South Wales, £48 per share; Union Bank, £50 10s. per share, ex. div.; Australian Joint Stock Bank, £12 15s. per share; Newcastle Coal and Copper Company, 17½ per cent. dis.; Australasian Steam Navigation Company, £14 5s. per share; Australian Gas-Light Company, £10 10s. per share, ex. new shares.

Government Debentures are very firm, and those due in 1860 have been sold at 1 per cent. premium, and interest. A large amount of Debentures due in 1874, deliverable in London, have changed hands at ½ per cent. premium and interest.

By the London we have Melbourne papers to the 12th instant. The quantity of gold-dust received by escort for the week was 37,321 oz. 5 dwts. From the Argus we take the following:—

There have been no changes in business to-day (Monday), and the markets continue dull. There has been this afternoon a little more inquiry by country houses, but no transactions have resulted.

Mr. Stubbs reports sales of land in the Government township of Sunbury, at the rate of £2000 per acre. The sales were effected by public auction, on the ground, on Saturday.

The imports of specie during the first quarter of the year have amounted to £112,371, and the exports to £77,227.

There has been no change of importance in the money market. The average amount of business has been done in advances on mortgages. Nothing has transpired in business circles to show any alteration in the tone of the market. The bank returns for the past quarter are now due, but none of them have yet appeared in the Gazette. The banks' rates are—For bills under 95 days' currency, 8 per cent.; from 95 to 125 days', 9 per cent.; over 125 days', 10 per cent.; and on overdrawn accounts, 10 per cent.

Exchange on England is at par for 60 days' sight for large amounts, and at 1 per cent. premium for 30 days' sight for bills under £50. Freight on gold by sailing vessels is from 2½d to 3d per ounce, deliverable in London; insurance, 1½ per cent. By the overland route the freight to the Bank of England is 1 per cent.; insurance, 1½ per cent.

In the stock and share market there has been a decided improvement in the amount of business done. A small parcel of Victoria 6 per cent. debentures, payable in 1861, has changed hands, at £102 5s. Bank of Victoria shares have been sold at £33 10s and £34; Colonial Bank of Australasia, at £6 4s; National Bank Australasia, at 15 per cent. discount. Melbourne and Hobson's Bay Railway shares have attracted speculation. Sales have been made during the week at 76, 77, and 78. Melbourne Gas and Coke Company's shares have been sold at 37½ per cent. premium, but are held for 40 per cent. premium. Victoria Insurance Company's shares have been in the market at £35. Australasian Insurance Company at 32s 6d, and Colonial Insurance Company at 30s. Bendigo Waterworks shares have been sold at £1 3s 6d per share on £1 paid. The shares of the Victoria Life and General Insurance Company and Savings Institute have excited much attention. A parcel was sent into the market at 10s. premium on 10s. paid up, but they have since been offered at 7s. 6d. In the absence of transfers they are not quotable.

Several large transactions have occurred in station property this week, many extensive properties having changed hands. Messrs. Kaye and Butchart sold the Lexington and La Rose stations, the property of H. Monro and the late A. R. Cruikshank, Esqs., in the Portland Bay district, to Messrs. Alexander Dalrymple and Co., at 22s. per head for 35,000 sheep, £8 10s. per head for 1000 cattle, £12 for the horses, and £1 per acre for the purchased land. Also—Messrs. Macleay, Clarke, and Co.'s stations, of Burrabogie and Mulberrygong, on the Murrumbidgee River, with 35,000 sheep and 400 head of cattle, for £55,000, to Messrs. F. Taylor and H. N. Loughnan. Messrs. Dalmahoy Campbell and Co. sold to Messrs. Watson and Hewitt, the North and South Tuppal Station, about 60 miles from Maiden's, on the north side of the Murray, with 20,000 sheep, for the sum of £31,750. Messrs. J. H. Clough and Co. sold to Mr. Chrisp, the Yallock Vale Station, the property of Mr. C. E. Labilliere, with 12,000 sheep, 600 head of cattle, and 1200 acres purchased land, for the sum of £20,000; crops, &c., taken at a valuation. Also the Kanoualla, the property of Mr. Thomas M'Kellar, near Hamilton, with 16,400 sheep, at the sum of £24,000. The station known as Kanawagga, the property of Messrs. Henty, Learmonth, and Co., has been sold to Mr. J. Gordon, of Newlands, for the sum of £28,000—the rate is about 27s per head for the sheep; and the Rifle Range station, formerly belonging to Mr. W. Buckle, has been sold by him to Messrs. Haggeston, Glancy, and Walker, for £1200.

The following is an extract of a letter from a leading commercial house in Melbourne to their correspondents in this city, and is dated the 11th instant:—

"During the past and present month the changes have been considerable in many articles, and should the mail bring favourable advices of shipments, we shall see a considerable rise in many articles, such as butter, oats, cheese, candles, boots and shoes, bottled beer, salt, bacon, hams, sardines, salad oil, malt, brandy, whisky in bulk, timber, linseed oil, turpentine, pearl barley, Liverpool soap, vinegar in bulk, &c., &c.

"Our markets are very firm. Butter was sold at 1s 6d per lb. on Saturday. Sugar is fully £2 10s per ton higher, with every prospect of a rise of £3 to £4 more. Oats, Scotch, are worth 5s to 5s 1½d. For candles, Belmont's or Hales' best sperm, there are buyers at 15d. Cheese is getting very scarce, there is no Dunlop here, and North Wilts is wanted. Byass', new label, half-and-half is worth 9s 9d at 9s 10½d; buyers, at former rate. Salt, coarse, is saleable at £3 per ton. Bacon, 15½d; hams, Sinclair's, 15d. Pints, salad oil, scarce saleable at 9s 6d to 9s 9d. Sardines, halves, 9s; quarters, 6s 3d. Martell's brandy is worth 10s 6d to 11s; some asking 12s to 13s, but little is to be purchased at the former rate. Pearl barley is readily saleable at £32. Cape raisins are scarce. Crown Liverpool soap, none here. Colman's satin glazed starch is wanted; 1-lbs., 6d. Turpentine, in drums, is worth 5s 6d to 5s 7½d. Half cases geneva are worth 11s 6d; whole cases, 17s 6d. Dried apples, selling at 9d. The Isca, from Manila, is in, to the New Sugar Company."

TELEGRAPHIC COMMUNICATION.

THE MELBOURNE AND SYDNEY OFFICES.

To the Editor of the Sydney Morning Herald.

Sir,—On Thursday last I felt it my duty to send you a telegram complaining of the working of the line in this colony. I will briefly explain to you why I thought it expedient to do so.

Your memory will, doubtless, recall the circumstance, when I remind you that I have had occasion, in the performance of my duties as your correspondent, to decry the petty spirit of detraction which appears to exist somewhere in the intercolonial telegraph departments. I did so mildly and suggestively — not offensively. I said (I speak from memory, my file of your journal having gone to the binders), something to this effect:—"It is no use tracing out the cause of the ill feeling which exists. Begin again in a better spirit. Let bygones be by-gones. Forget the past. Improve the future." I was induced to write thus, because I could not help feeling the annoyance of perpetually finding that "something was wrong." Telegraphic communication with Sydney was becoming known in Melbourne as "telegraphic interruption with Sydney," and the Sydney people were always to blame.

I must say I thought it rather ungenerous that the elder line should so systematically shew up the defects in the younger, while so carefully concealing its own; but I thought the feeling would die out. I believed that you in New South Wales were to blame, because it was always stated that you were, but I entertained no doubt that you would gain experience with increasing months, and that with the declining call for censure the desire to impart it would decrease.

But still there was always something wrong. If "envy, hatred, and malice" had not obtained possession of the lines, certainly "all uncharitableness" had. I deplored the existence of this disposition, and did all I could to dispel it. On Thursday last, however, two glaring cases of inconvenience to the public occurred, the entire blame of which rested on the Melbourne office. Two separate telegrams were taken to the window for transmission to Sydney, when the senders were informed that "communication was interrupted." When the presiding official was asked "When will it be resumed?" the answer was, as usual, "Don't know! leave your message if you like." Both these would-be senders went away and the telegrams were unsent. At a later period of the day, on sending to inquire, I found the line open, and my messenger was informed there had been no actual interruption; it was all a mistake.

It then occurred to me that, as these Melbourne people are so fond of throwing blame on those of Sydney, notwithstanding that no good has yet come of it, perhaps a little administered directly on themselves might have some effect. It was deserved, and it was administered. I sent a telegram to you which, I think, the occasion called for. It does not appear to have reached your hands at so early an hour as it should have done.

I clearly foresaw that the dispatching of this message would be painful to the operators at Melbourne, but I was determined it should be sent. I hope some good may accrue to the colonists on both sides from this little episode in the history of telegraphic communication? It is high time that our petty jealousy should be brought to an end. The two colonies have no grounds of quarrel. Their interest are the same. Victoria has grown into "position" not the less secure because of its rapid development. New South Wales has long had "position." Henceforward the progress of the two colonies will be as mutual as their interests are identical. It would be a pity in this state of mutual advancement, to keep up a constant animosity by means of the electric wire. If any secret grievance exists, let us have it out at once. A great fight now, with peace and quietness to follow, will be far better than continued jars. A good understanding at the beginning, is found of great service in other alliances than that between two distant cities.

I am, Sir, yours very faithfully,
YOUR CORRESPONDENT.

PROTECTIONISTS v. FREE TRADERS.

To the Editor of the Sydney Morning Herald.

Sir,—Surely you will not refuse your columns to a reply to your pungent correspondent, John Macintosh; he entitles his letter a "Nut for Protectionists;" but really, Sir, I think you will agree with me, that it is rather a Nut for Free Traders. If it be worth our while in New South Wales to incur the expense of importing the salt, of conveying it into the country, of carrying down the hides to Sydney, and of shipping them to London, to re-import them as boots and shoes, to be re conveyed to the hide-producing station, and there sold, in order to pay the English workman, it would surely be far better for us to content ourselves with the importation of salt and (as your correspondent correctly states) hemp, and have the leather prepared here, for we have plenty of tanners and curriers, and then made into boots and shoes for the consumption of our own population. It must be evident both to your correspondent and to yourself, that if this could be accomplished, a large amount of employment would be afforded to all engaged in one branch of the leather trade, and the whole of the cash thus expended at present in England, be retained among ourselves to increase and fructify, as money always does. Why not then imitate England, and charge a duty upon these imported goods equal to the amount of labour that would have been bestowed upon them by our own workmen? (Vide English Tariff.) By which means we should provide abundant employment for those already here, and and afford encouragement for many in the same trades to emigrate from over-populated England to help us, and prosper themselves in New South Wales.

Yours, &c.,
Sydney, 14th April. Y.

THE NEW DISTRICT COURTS ACT—AND THE LATE COURT OF REQUESTS.

To the Editor of the Sydney Morning Herald.

Sir,—In the early part of January last, I caused to be issued, for the £30 Jurisdiction, of the Court of Requests, two summonses, and paid thereon the necessary fees, amounting to about £1 2s.

At the time of issuing such summonses, no objection whatever was made by the "proper authorities," with reference to the operation of the New District Courts Act. The money was taken, and the causes regularly entered for the £30 sittings for that month.

I have to-day ascertained, from my solicitor, that I must issue new plaints for the District Court, and pay the same fees as if no proceedings in the Court of Requests had been taken.

If such a course has been sanctioned by the Government I can only say that they will obtain a very considerable sum by most improper means. Will they adhere to their motto, "No money returned?" or will they for once pursue an honest and straightforward course by returning the fees paid as above mentioned or allow the parties interested to set them off against these payable under the new Act?

Yours, &c.,
A SUITOR.
Sydney, April 15.

GLEBE MUNICIPALITY.

To the Editor of the Sydney Morning Herald.

Sir,—In the notice of the meeting, held at the Glebe last evening, I am reported as having supported the resolution proposed by Mr. M'Arthur.

As one of the originators of the Anti-Incorporation Meeting, held on the 8th instant, and taking some little interest in the welfare of the district, may I beg the favour of your correcting the report in to-morrow's issue.

I supported the amendment proposed by Mr. Eager, not Mr. M'Arthur's resolution.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,
GEORGE R. DIBBS.
Glebe, 15th April.

VICTORIA.

By the London (s.), we have papers to the 12th instant, from Melbourne.

The Age of that date says, It now appears to be pretty well ascertained that no general election can take place until Parliament has been called together to make the necessary alterations in the Registration Act. Ministers, it is said, have been earnestly discussing the matter, and, while agreeing in the necessity of calling Parliament together, have determined not to do so, but to take their chance of a Bill of Indemnity from the next Parliament. But there are difficulties in the way of the latter course which will be too much even for their thimblerigging faculties to surmount. That future Parliament will itself be an illegal body, and its pretended acts of legislation may be set aside by any one who chooses, and an appeal to the Supreme Court will protect the contumacious in their defiance. An Act of Indemnity, besides, is an absurdity, when the previous Parliament might have been called together in time to meet the emergency. To ask or grant such an indemnity under such circumstances, would be wholly unconstitutional. There is nothing for it but to call Parliament together, however nervous Ministers may be on that score. They may well be afraid to meet it.

We are in a position to state (adds the same journal) that the statements we copied yesterday from a Geelong contemporary, about the interview between the Chief Justice and the Government, respecting the Registration Bill, is correct. Sir William Stawell has given his opinion that Parliament must be called together to alter the Registration Act, before there can be a valid election

The Bendigo papers are insisting strongly upon the necessity of a Local Court of Insolvency. In support of this movement the Mercury instances a recent case in which a local case brought to Melbourne had cost no less than £60 for one meeting, the insolvency being only for £500 or £600. The way in which the business of the Melbourne Court has been administered is greatly complained of, as frightening honest debtors and favouring the fraudulent, while it wrongs the whole body of the creditors.

On the morning of the 11th instant, the execution of Ryan, convicted of the murder of Joseph Hartweg, at the Indigo, took place at the Melbourne Gaol. He met his fate with great fortitude, and died almost without a struggle, being attended in his last moments by the clergy of his church (the Roman Catholic). It is understood that up to that time he denied the perpetration of the crime with which he was charged, but admitted that he had been guilty of several other murders.

Mrs. Douglas accomplished her pedestrian feat of walking 1000 miles in 1000 hours, on Monday night last. She commenced this extraordinary task, especially for a woman, on March the 1st, at twenty minutes to eight o'clock a.m., and finished it last evening at about fifteen minutes past ten o'clock p.m., walking the 999th mile in sixteen minutes thirty seconds, and the 1000th in thirteen minutes forty-two seconds. Mrs. Douglas is a married woman, and the mother of seven children, three of whom are living. She is of diminutive stature, middle age, and a native of Doncaster, Yorkshire. Her husband is a partial cripple, and incapable of working, from an attack of paralysis, so that the whole family depends for support on her sole exertions. She seemed but little fatigued at the conclusion of her task, walking quite as briskly as at the commencement. There is no reason to doubt that it has been a bona fide affair, the time book being apparently well authenticated.—Age.

A meeting took place on Monday evening, at Keeley's Hotel, with the view of forming a Democratic Association, in consequence of the conduct of part of the Convention, with respect to the late Richmond election. After a very stormy meeting, an amendment was carried to the effect that a conference should take place with the Convention, with respect to the desirability of forming a new Convention.—Herald.

Sir Henry Barkly and his staff and some two thousand of the general public, including a large proportion of ladies, were present at the Victoria Artillery Races, which were held on the Melbourne Racecourse on Saturday afternoon. The ground was kept by the troopers, who for the most part are a very stalwart military-looking body of men, and extremely well mounted.

Victoria Industrial Society.—The Concert Hall at Cremorne Gardens was opened on Monday for the exhibition of articles forwarded by members and supporters of the above institution. We observed, amongst many other things, some good specimens of wire work, harness, drain pipes, photographs, and colonial engraving. A marble bust of the Hon. Henry Miller, M.L.C., occupied a prominent position. Busts of the Rev. Thomas Binney and Dr. L. L. Smith, both cut out of freestone, and excellent likenesses, were also exhibited by the same artist.—Argus.

His Excellency Sir Henry Barkly laid the foundation stone of a new Presbyterian place of worship, called the Presbyterian Union Church, at North Melbourne, on the afternoon of the 8th instant. His Excellency congratulated the congregation and the Presbyterian body generally upon the union, and expressed a hope that it would be perpetual and enduring.

Cricket.—Melbourne v. Emerald Hill.—A match between eleven of the Melbourne club and fifteen of the men of the Hill was played on Saturday, on the ground of the former. The Melbourne men having won the toss, went in, sending Grindrod and B. Butterworth to the wickets. The latter was soon disposed of without scoring, being well caught out by Barrass at long field on. Gillott joined Grindrod, and the two played together for some time; at length Grindrod was caught at mid wicket by Moore. Bruce then joined Gillott, who after making a score of 14, was caught by Kidson. Bryant then went in to the bowling of Marshall and Walker. The latter, after bowling two no balls, lowered Bruce's wicket when he had made 13. G. Elliott then went to accompany Bryant, and succeeded in scoring 6 before he was bowled out by Walker. Bryant at this time was hitting the ball to all parts of the field. Hammersley next went in, and after some good steady play was run out, having made 19. H. Box then joined Bryant, and was caught the first ball by Moore at point. M'Crae was bowled by Hopkinson for 5. Wray made 8, when he was run out, and Dick was caught by Walker, the bowler. Bryant carried his bat out after making a splendid score of 38. Total first innings, 126. After the lapse of a few minutes, the Emerald Hill men went in, Kidson and Barnett going first to the wickets to the bowling of Elliott and Bryant. The former was soon disposed of for 4, being caught by Dick. Moore joined Barnett, and was run out scoring nothing. Hall then put in an appearance, and was almost immediately run out, leaving a round 0 to his credit in the scoring book. Hopkinson then went in with Barnett, the latter of whom now fell a victim to a ball from Bryant, having added 9 to the score. George Marshall joined Hopkinson, and some fine play was expected, but at the second ball Marshall was well caught by Bryant who was bowling. Clementson now went in as the companion of Hopkinson, and if possible to run up the score, but, after a few balls from Bryant, he was caught by Elliott. Barber took his turn next at the wicket just vacated, and was speedily forced to abdicate, having been caught by Hammersley off Bryant's bowling. Hopkinson, after making 8, was also caught by Hammersley, at short slip. Thompson and V. Marshall then became companions, and the latter had scored 5, and the former 2, when the stumps were drawn at six o'clock, 8 wickets down for 32. This match will be played out some time in the course of the week.—Herald.

The Most Valuable Cake on Record.—A cake of gold, probably the largest ever retorted on Bendigo or in the world, was brought into town yesterday, and after occasioning considerable excitement and competition among the several gold-brokers, Mr. A. Bannerman, of the Bank of New South Wales gold office, became the purchaser for a sum something over £2800. The weight of the cake is 730 ozs. 16 dwts., and is the produce of a quantity of stone crushed at Messrs. Bruce and Co.'s Metropolitan Mills, which has averaged 17 ozs. to the ton.—Bendigo Advertiser.

The union of the various sections of Presbyterians in this colony into one general body was celebrated on Thursday, the 7th instant, by a lengthened religious service held in Mr. Hetherington's church in Collins-street. It was certainly a deeply interesting sight, even for a casual spectator, to witness a body of more than forty ministers laying aside all their old sectarian differences and personal animosities, and uniting on the broad ground of a common creed—a sight, indeed, to make good men glad, and to stimulate other classes of Christians to imitate this noble example.—Herald.

VICTORIA VOLUNTEER ARTILLERY RACES.

(From the Argus, April 11th.)

A genuine racing spirit appears to animate our Volunteer Artillery. Their maiden effort at affording a good day's sport last year was crowned with complete success. This year they have achieved a triumph. Contented with a couple of races to themselves, one of which was contested with genuine British pluck, though perhaps with less than that amount of British skill which might have been expected, these praiseworthy amateurs gave three open prizes, which were of sufficiently attractive metal to secure the entry of many horses not undistinguished during the past season on the metropolitan turf. The attendance was quite equal in point of numbers, and superior in regard of respectability, to that witnessed at ordinary race gatherings upon the Melbourne course.

The Royal Victoria Volunteer Artillery Challenge Cup.—Value 100 guineas, with a sweepstakes of 3 sovereigns added. Two miles. Weight 12st. 7lb. for troop horses. Regimental qualification.

Trooper Sheedy's Haphazard, aged (owner) 1
Corporal Johnson's Hero, 6 years (owner) 2
Sergeant Millar's Paul Jones, aged (owner) 3

The following also ran:—Trooper Wilson's Charlton, Trooper Bird's Nugget, Trooper Kirley's Volunteer, Lieutenant Richardson's Old Jemmy.

Betting.—5 to 4 against Paul Jones; 7 to 4 against Haphazard; and 3 to 1 against Hero.

Haphazard won by three lengths.

Match for £200.—One mile, T. Y. C., 8st.

Mr. Yuille's Flying Buck, 2 years.
Roche's Sir Edward, 2 years.

The first-named colt walked over.

The Trooper's Plate.—Of 30 sovs.; entrance, 1 sov. One mile-and-a-half, V.T.C welter weights; 3 years., 10st. 7lb.; 4 years, 11st. 7lb.; 5 years, 12st. 2lb.; 6 years and aged, 12st. 10lb.; for troop horses. Regimental qualification.

Trooper Ritchie's Warigal, aged (Mr. Connolly) 1
Corporal Johnson's Hero, 6 years (owner) 2
Sergeant Millar's Paul Jones, aged (owner) 3

Four others started, viz:—Trooper Wilson's Charlton, Trooper Bird's Nugget, Captain R. Green's Chorus, Trooper Perkins's General Picton.

Haphazard, entered for this race, having ran first for the Challenge Cup, was not allowed to run.

Betting.—6 to 4 against Warigal, 2 to 1 against anything else.

On the starter (not Mr. Rawdon Greene this time) dropping his flag Nugget got the jump, closely followed by Warigal and Chorus. At the gate Paul Jones had assumed the premiership, of which he was speedily dispossessed by Warigal, Hero lying third. These three from this out had the race to themselves. After an exciting finish the telegraph put an end to the doubts of persons in the stand by proclaiming Warigal first.

The Artillery Handicap.—Of 50 sovs. Entrance 5 sovs. One mile and a half. Open to all horses.

Mr. P. Keighran's b. c. Praxitiles, 3 years, 7st. 6lb. (Cunningham) (12lbs over) 1
Kelly's b. m. Green Linnet, aged, 9st. 5lb. 2

Six others ran, viz:—Mr. Coleman's b. g. Sultan, aged, 10st.; Mr. M'Kenzie's br. g. Tiger, aged, 8st. 7lbs.; Mr. Lascelles's b. g. Peter, aged, 8st. 4lbs.; Mr. Kelly's ch. m. Limerick Lass, aged, 8st 3lb.; Mr. Simon's ch. m. Miss Wildspin, 4 years, 7st. 9lbs.; Mr. Smith's b. g. Bray, 4 years, 7st.

Betting.—6 to 4 each against Sultan and Green Linnet; 3 to 1 against Praxitiles, and 4 to 1 against Peter.

Peter set off first, having the outside running. At the first turn Praxitiles took a commanding lead, which she never lost, finishing an easy winner by a couple of lengths; Green Linnet second; and the other favourite nowhere.

The Artillery Handicap Hurdle Race.—Of 50 sovs. Entrance, 5 sovs. One mile and a half. Heats. Open to all horses.

Mr. Key's gr. m. Modesty, aged, 11st. 12lb (Mahon)	1	1
Greenway's br. g. Sam Slick, aged, 9st. 6lb.	2	2
M'Kenzie's b. g. Whistle Binkie, aged, 9st. 7lb.	3	3
Watson's br. g. Valentine, aged, 9st. 4lb.	0	0
Evans's br. g. Orlando, aged, 8st. 10lb.	0	0

Mr. Hawley's Pioneer did not start.

Betting.—7 to 4 on Modesty, 5 to 2 against Sam Slick.

Both heats are easily described. After the first hundred yards, the grey mare went to the front, was never headed, and won easily.

The Handicap Selling Stakes.—Of 25 sovs. Entrance, 1 sov. One mile and a half. The winner to be sold for £30, and any surplus to go to the fund.

Mr. Bevan's ro. g. Foxhunter, aged, 8st. 11lb. 1
Fogarty's b. g. Sergeant, 5 years, 8st. 7lb. 2
Webb's br. g. Rocket, aged, 8st. 3lb. 0
Yeend's bl. g. Native Black, 4 years, 6st. 0

Mr. Simon's ch. m. Miss Wildspin, was scratched.

Betting—2 to 1 on Foxhunter, who, after the first half mile, had it all his own way, and won by as many lengths as his juvenile rider pleased; Sergeant second.

All who visited the course, losers not excepted, bore on their return to town the appearance of having thoroughly enjoyed the excellent day's sport afforded by the Volunteer Artillery Corps.

Compensation to Mrs. G. Want.—It will be remembered that a few months since Mr. G. Want was killed by a railway accident, near Burwood. His widow having claimed compensation for her loss, under the provisions of Lord Campbell's Act, the Government at once offered to refer the matter to arbitration, which was agreed to. Mr. C. Kemp was appointed by the Government, Mr. Edwin Hickey, by Mrs. Want, and these gentlemen requested Mr. A. Gordon (barrister), to act as third arbitrator; the award of any of them being under the deed of submission, final. All the facts as to the death and its cause were admitted, the only question being the amount to be awarded. The case was gone into on Saturday and Monday, Mr. Darvall appearing for Mrs. Want, and the Solicitor-General for the Railway Commissioner. On Wednesday the arbitrators signed the award, giving to Mrs. Want £5000, and to her children, £2770. The principle of the award is, we are informed, a life annuity of £500 for the widow, and £150 each for the children. This is, we believe, the first decision of the kind which has been given in the colony.

New Road.—It having been deemed expedient to open and make a parish road (to be maintained at the expense of the parishes through which it passes) from Mittagong to the Great South Road at Nattai, running through the lands granted to, or now occupied by Joseph Wallis, Alfred Keith, and R. and E. Tooth; a plan and book of reference, shewing the intended line of the road, are now deposited at the office of the Surveyor-General in Sydney, and at the police office, Berrima, and all persons interested therein are requested to transmit, in writing, to the Clerk of the Executive Council, before the 11th May any well grounded objections which may exist to the formation of the road in question.

Fine Woolled Sheep.—We understand that an agent for the French Government, has lately purchased several lots of sheep in this neighbourhood for exportation to New Caledonia. 300 maiden ewes, bred by Mr. N. P. Bayly, fetched as high as three guineas per head; another lot, bred by Mr. H. Bloomfield, of Louee brought £2 15s. per head.—Mudgee Newspaper.

St. Michael's Church, Wollongong.—The pulling down of the present Church of St. Michael commenced on Monday last. The interior fittings, the whole of the roof, and a considerable portion of the stone work have been removed. It is intended to use up the stone in the erection of the new edifice on Church Hill, that being the only condition upon which Bishop Barker would allow the sacred edifice to be rased. The erection of the new church in being proceeded with very vigorously, and it is expected to be ready for the performance of divine service in about six months.—Illawarra Mercury

TO W. B. ALLEN, Esq.—Per favour of the SYDNEY MORNING HERALD.—SIR,—Observing that you are reported to have stated at a public meeting that "no manufactured goods are admitted into England free of duty," we venture to lay before you the following extracts from the latest officially published tariff of the United Kingdom:—

"Cotton, viz., callicoes and muslins, white, dyed, or coloured; nankeens, not dyed or coloured; dyed or coloured handkerchiefs; manufactures not being articles in whole or in part made up and otherwise charged with duty—FREE.

"Woollens, viz., manufactures of wool not being goat's wool, or of wool mixed with cotton, not particularly enumerated, and not otherwise charged with duty—FREE."

Woollen carpets and rugs, 6d. per square yard.
Shawls, scarfs, and handkerchiefs, 4d. per lb.

LYCEUM BOARDING SCHOOL, SYDNEY.—Mr. CREENY, formerly Lecturer on Astronomy, in the Feinaiglian Institution, Luxembourg, Dublin, and at present Head Master of the Lyceum School, contiguous to St. Andrew's Cathedral, Sydney, having taken the large house in Bathurst-street, lately occupied by G. Rattray, Esq., can accommodate a limited number of Boarders, from eight to fourteen years of age.

Pupils committed to his care will be prepared for the University, or the Counting-house, according to the most approved methods of instruction. Besides Latin and Greek, French and German are taught, but, paramount above all, a sound English, Commercial, and Mathematical Education will be imparted, to enable any young man to enter early and creditably on the duties of active life. As certain progress in sound learning depends chiefly on the preparation of lessons, this most important matter will always have the superintendence of Mr. Creeny, or of an able assistant. Besides the usual branches taught in ordinary schools, a weekly lecture on architecture, astronomy, mechanics, the steam-engine, geology, electricity, natural history, &c. illustrated by suitable apparatus, will be given, so that the minds of the pupils may be imbued with a taste for subjects so useful and entertaining. By devoting his best energies to the arduous profession in which he has been long engaged, Mr. Creeny hopes to be able to impart to those under his tuition a very superior and useful education.

Mr. Creeny received his primary education in the Belfast Royal Institution. After entering Trinity College, Dublin, he was appointed Lecturer on Arithmetic, Geography, and Astronomy, in the Feinaiglian Institution, a school of well-known celebrity. Its head master the Rev. Dr. Hawksworth, on being appointed head master of Queen Elizabeth's Hospital, Bristol, induced Mr. C. to join him, and since that time he has had great experience in teaching Classics and Mathematics in some of the middle and higher class of schools in England, where he became convinced of the superiority of Boarding School Education, over that of Day-school or private tuition. It must be evident that regularity of early rising and of going to bed—of meals—of work—relaxation, and exercise, continued for a year or two, will make the exact and accurate man of business, in every department of life. Since coming to Sydney, Mr C. was for some time second master of the St. James's Grammar School. He can refer to clergymen and others, in Sydney, whose children he has instructed. Pupils entrusted to his management will receive kind and hospitable treatment.

FINCH'S NUTRITIVE CREAM.—A preparation unsurpassed for its valuable powers of promoting the growth, restoring and improving of the hair, imparting the soft silky lustre, so true a criterion of its healthy state. The advantage of its use to the young cannot be too strongly impressed on all who have the charge of them; for it is by early attention to the human hair that it will retain its luxuriance during the longest life. This unique preparation affords a decided restorative to those who, from fever or other causes, have lost their hair. In bottles, 2s. 6d. and 4s. 6d. each.

The DANDRIFF LOTION.—The great prevalence of dandriff in the hair has called forth a variety of lotions, more or less successful in removing this very unpleasant and distressing disease of the scalp. It also imparts a delightful coolness to the head. In bottles 2s. 6d. each.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS are of infinite benefit to persons suffering from nervous tremors and general feebleness. Thousands who have returned, utterly exhausted by their labours at the Diggings, gratefully testify to their value. They renovate the nervous system, and brace the muscles, as well as give tone to the stomach. Their purgative action is unaccompanied by pain, and as they have powerful stomachic, as well as aperient and purifying properties, they literally carry on the work of invigorating the digestion, relieving the bowels, and regulating the secretions at one and the same time. This cannot be said of any other medicine in existence. Sold at the establishment of Professor Holloway, 244, Strand (near Temple Bar), London, and 80, Maiden-lane, New York; also, by all respectable druggists and dealers in medicine throughout the civilised world, and in all parts of Australia, at the following prices:—1s. 3d., 3s. 3d., and 5s. each pot. ☞ There is a considerable saving by taking the largest sizes. N.B.—Directions for the guidance of patients in every disorder are affixed to each pot.

THERE'S A COLD TIME COMING, SIRS

There's a cold time coming, Sirs,
A cold time coming.
The summer season now declines,
And any one may trace the signs
Of the cold time coming.
Drenching rain will soon descend,
And wintry winds blow stronger,
Then come to JACOBS, come at once,
Don't wait any longer.
There's a cold time, &c.

There's a cold time coming, Sirs,
A cold time coming,
But Messrs. JACOBS have on hand
A stock unequalled in the land
For the cold time coming
Quality is here displayed,
And nothing could be stronger,
Then take a hint, and come and buy,
Don't wait any longer.
There's a cold time, &c.

There's a cold time coming, Sirs,
A cold time coming,
And you will need a wrapper warm,
To screen you from the "ruthless storm,"
In the cold time coming.
Summer clothing will not do,
You must have something stronger,
And hence again I warmly say,
Don't wait any longer.
There's a cold time, &c.,

There's a cold time coming, sirs,
A cold time coming;
Then see the prices JACOBS quotes,
For winter capes and over-coats,
For the cold time coming.
Cheapness as the system here,
Makes public aid the stronger;
Then come and patronise our marts,
Don't wait any longer.
There's a cold time, &c.

Highly Important Sale of Valuable Landed Properties.
Eight Building Allotments in the centre of Singleton.
Eight Hundred and Twenty Acres of the finest Land on the Williams River, and in the immediate neighbourhood of Dungog.

CHATTO and HUGHES have been instructed to sell by public auction, at their Sale Rooms, 400, George-street, on WEDNESDAY, 27th April, at 11 o'clock,

8 valuable building allotments in the very best part of the rising and flourishing town of Singleton.

☞ Few persons can doubt the immense increase of population and business which will be evident in Singleton, and the consequent advance in the value of property, on the completion of the Great Northern line of railroad (the Commissioners having determined to make that rising town the permanent terminus). The allotments now advertised are in close neighbourhood of the proposed station; and, so much are the auctioneers convinced of the great and immediate advance in value of property there, that they advised, on those grounds, to defer the sale of these allotments. The proprietor, however, directs their unreserved sale.

820 acres of the finest agricultural land on the "Williams," within a very short distance of Dungog.

DESCRIPTION.

"All that piece or parcel of land, containing eight hundred and twenty acres, more or less, county Durham, on Williams River, commencing at the eastern extreme of the south boundary line of a surveyed portion of fifty acres of land; and bounded on the north by that boundary line bearing west three chains from William's River; on the west by one hundred and forty-four chains of the east boundary line of John Mann's nineteen hundred and twenty acres grant, bearing south; on the south by an east line of eighty chains; on the east by a north line of fifty chains to Williams River; and on the north-east by Williams River upwards to the eastern extreme of the south boundary line of a surveyed portion of fifty acres of land, being the land sold as Lot 10 in pursuance of advertisement, 25th June, 1858."

☞ Much as the land on the Williams has been praised for its fertility, the auctioneers believe that the 820 acres now advertised form the pick of it, and, in the various portions, land well adapted for every country pursuit is to be found. The land will be sold in blocks of suitable sizes, or in one lot, to suit the convenience of purchasers.

It is almost superfluous to mention that there is now daily steam communication between the metropolis and the Williams, and that they are, in effect, but a very few hours' easy travelling apart.

Full particulars can be obtained at the office of the auctioneers.

Plans in preparation.

Terms, liberal.

CHATTO and HUGHES have been instructed by the proprietor to sell by auction, at their Sale Rooms, 400, George-street, on WEDNESDAY, the 27th instant, at 11 o'clock,

☞ This very valuable freehold property as above described, and which private reasons alone induce the owners to relinquish.

☞ The auctioneers, from personal knowledge of the property advertised, can, with the utmost certainty, recommend it to parties who are really in want of a comfortable, compact, and remunerative property. The orchard and vineyard have been stocked really without regard to expense, and both now in their prime. The orangery, though young, promises exceedingly well. The property is well fenced in, has a very comfortable house built on it, together with stables, stockyard, &c; the whole forming a very comfortable home for any one inclined for a pleasant country residence.

a very neat residence, adjoining the hotel, fronting Glebe Road, built of brick, cemented, containing six apartments, with yard, &c., at the back.

On the extensive block of land, on the opposite corner of the Glebe Road and Francis-street are containing each two rooms and a kitchen, with separate yards, &c.; well of water, for the use of the whole. Also, the remains of the premises known as the FORESTERS' ARMS INN, and some stabling.

SIX BRICK-BUILT COTTAGES,

☞ The above valuable freehold property will be sold as one lot.

* It is well known as the property of Mr. George Williams, and is in thorough order and repair, having only been lately erected, at a great cost.

If its extent is considered, the substantial nature and finish of the buildings, and the locality, especially in connexion with the new great thoroughfare by the Pyrmont Bridge, now in course of completion, it will be acknowledged to be well worthy the attention of capitalists or others seeking a most compact and paying investment.

Mr. Williams occupies the Inn, now doing a flourishing business, which, with the cottage adjoining, would readily bring a rent (taking a very minimum valuation) of £200 per annum, the cottages on the opposite side are let at 8s. per week, making the total certain income derivable from the property (exclusive of the large block of unoccupied land), equal to about £333 per annum.

For further particulars apply at the Rooms; or to Mr. WILLIAMS, on the Premises.

Title—Unquestionable. Full particulars of which can be ascertained on application to W. W. BILLYARD, Esq., Macquarie-street.

All that valuable block of land, containing 30 square perches, more or less, and having frontages of 35 FEET, more or less, to GEORGE-STREET, and extending through to, and having 34½ FEET, more or less, to NEW PITT-STREET, with a depth of about 214 feet, together with the extensive ranges of stone and brick buildings erected thereon, comprising as follows:—

The PREMISES fronting George-street, a two-story building, with extensive stores and cellars in the basement, which open into the yard.

☞ The above premises are now in the occupation of Messrs. LANE and CO., the well-known ship chandlers. Considering their proximity to the CIRCULAR QUAY and CAMPBELL'S WHARF, and the frontage to both George and Pitt streets, the TWO GREAT THOROUGHFARES of the CITY, the auctioneer feels justified in calling attention to it as one of the MOST VALUABLE CITY PROPERTIES that has been in the market for a long time. Indeed, there are very few properties that enjoy a double frontage of such value and extent, and for business in connection with the shipping, that advantage cannot be over-estimated.

Peremptory instructions have been received per last mail to effect a sale by auction, to the highest bidder; the property will therefore be positively sold on the above date.

☞ Mr. Richardson would with pleasure direct the attention of those in search of good city investments, to this property in Kent-street, which, in regard to desirability of locality, solidity and finish in building, is perhaps unequalled in the city.

His instructions are positively to sell, to the highest bidder, on the above liberal terms.

For POSITIVE SALE.

Terms at sale.

MORT and CO. have been instructed by the trustees to the estate of the late WILLIAM ROBERTS, Esq., to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, at 11 o'clock, on WEDNESDAY, 18th May,

The whole of that well known and very valuable property, the BARK HUTS ESTATE, situate on the Liverpool Road, at the head of Cook's River, and distant only about 8 MILES FROM SYDNEY, as recently surveyed, and according to the following subdivision:—

LOT 1.—That well known and long-established Roadside Hostelry, THE BARK HUTS INN, now licensed, in full trade, and let to Mr. Davis. It is built partly of brick and partly weatherboard and brick-nogged, and contains front verandah, tap, and bar-rooms, 2 parlours, and 6 bedrooms. At the rear are a store, servants' mess-room, kitchen, oven, coach-house, 5 servants' bedrooms, and hay and corn room, extending along one side of the yard. On the opposite side are the stables, and across the end, forming the third side of a quadrangle, are large sheds for carts, &c., beyond which is the outer yard. With the inn will be sold 52 ACRES, MORE OR LESS, most of which is enclosed, has an extensive FRONTAGE TO COOK'S RIVER, affording an abundant supply of water; and also about A QUARTER OF A MILE FRONTAGE TO THE LIVERPOOL ROAD.

Lot 2.—THE FARM, formerly better known perhaps as HAMILTON'S BOILING ESTABLISHMENT. This lot comprises about 46 ACRES, including the buildings formerly used as the Boiling Establishment, Stockyard, &c. It has more than a quarter of a-mile frontage to COOK'S RIVER, in which are some NEVER-FAILING WATER-HOLES, and also a LARGE FRONTAGE to the LIVERPOOL ROAD. Most of the land is cleared and enclosed—and during the boiling operations has been abundantly manured. The buildings are out of repair, but there is an abundance of material in them for the erection of farm and other buildings.

. This lot is particularly worthy of attention. It would make a splendid orchard and vineyard.

Lots 3 to 10 front the Liverpool Road OPPOSITE THE INN, and abut upon THE COOK'S RIVER. They contain from 4 to 8 ACRES EACH, consist chiefly of cleared land, and upon one of them (No. 3), are a number of slab huts.

Nos. 11 to 13 front the Liverpool Road, on the North side. They each contain from 24 to 28 acres, with a large road frontage.

Nos. 14 to 21 front the Liverpool Road on the South side, immediately beyond the inn. They vary in extent from 7 to 16 Acres each, and have all large road frontages.

Lots 22 to 51 are subdivided into farms of from 15 to 35 Acres each. They are all approached by good roads.

The BARK HUTS ESTATE is too well known to the colonial public to need any lengthened description, MORT and CO. content themselves, therefore, with announcing that it is now in the market for BONA FIDE SALE, as the trustees have determined upon winding up the estate of the late Mr. William Roberts. Small capitalists desirous of forming comfortable little homesteads, orchards or vineyards, are invited to inspect the property prior to the sale. It is within about
